Edu institutes can prescribe uniform: SC

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

WHILE hearing pleas challenging the Karnataka High Court's verdict on banning hijab in educational institutes, the Supreme Court on Thursday said there were statutory rules which say that educational institutions have the power to prescribe uniforms.

Responding to Advocate Prashant Bhushan's contention that schools cannot restrict entry to students for not wearing a dress and that a public institution, particularly a government institution, could not impose a dress code, Justice Hemant Gupta asked, "So your submission is that government schools can't have a uniform?" "Yes, but even if they can, they can't restrict hijab," Bhushan responded. "The rules say they have the power to prescribe uniforms. Hijab is different," Justice Dhulia said.

Bhushan argued that over the years, Muslim girls wearing hijab had acquired a religious identity which was protected under Article 25 of the Constitution. "It may not be prescribed as an essential practice by Quran, but if it is a bona fide practice followed by several women, it cannot be proscribed," he added.

To make good his submission that the severe fallout of the Government Order (GO) which restrained students to wear the hijab to educational institutions was the dropout of Muslim girls, Senior Advocate Kapil Sibal referred to a RTI reply obtained by an English newspaper as per which 145 out of 900 Muslim girls in Dakshina Kannada took transfer certificates. Time to say goodbye

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

LOWER your sporting flags to half mast. Mute your TV sets during live sports broadcasts. Shed a tear or two. Genuflect before a tennis racquet. Any sporting equipment really. If you can afford it, fly to London for the Laver Cup, beginning on September 23. The three-day event will be Roger Federer's final ATP event. The Swiss great, in an emotional video message on his Instagram handle, announced his retirement from the game that he has served with unparalleled distinction since turning professional in 1998.

"... I also know my body's capacities and limits, and its message to me lately has been clear. I am 41 years old. I have played more than 1500 matches over 24 years. Tennis has treated me more generously than I ever would have dreamt, and now I must recognize when it is time to end my competitive career. The Laver Cup next week in London will be my final ATP event... This is a bittersweet decision, because I will miss everything the tour has given me." While the announcement was expected – his body was failing him and surgeries were increasingly 'Hail Mary' options — the news still affected not just the tennis community but sports fans in general. It's not because of the number of matches or titles he racked up — it had a role — but it was the idea of Federer that made fans fall in love with the Swiss. He elevated sport to art and composed mood-lifting music on a tennis court that resonated with people irrespective of their allegiance, a joie-de-vivre.

In an era where tennis became physical, he still showed it was possible to keep winning the game with his poetry. It was a privilege to watch him. It was like being in a high-end art gallery. You could spot the 'Mona Lisa' one moment. The 'Girl With A Pearl Earring' in another. Five minutes later, 'The Starry Night' would be the crowning glory. Just that, he kept creating each of these centuries-old works of art with a racquet.

The finesse, the beauty, the symphony all that he created on tennis court will be missed forever.

Another ploy to rig Cong polls?

State units to pass resolutions empowering the new party chief to appoint AICC members

SHAHID FARIDI @ New Delhi

IN an announcement that shocked those demanding fair and transparent organisational elections in the Congress, the party's central leadership has asked its state units to pass unanimous resolutions empowering the party president to appoint state presidents and AICC members.

The move will not only scuttle elections for the post of state presidents, it will also help rig the Congress Working Committee (CWC) polls with the central leadership appointing the AICC members who form the committee's electoral college.

Concerns have also been raised about the manner in which the 9,300 Pradesh Congress Committee (PCC) delegates have been selected. These delegates will elect the new national president. The Pradesh Returning Officers, who were in-charge of supervising the election for PCC delegates, were a group of Gandhi family loyalists handpicked by the central leadership. These PROs prepared the list of PCC delegates in consultation with the central leadership. There were no elections for PCC delegates in any state, except the Andaman and Nicobar Islands.

As a result, the PCC delegates who will elect the new Congress president are carefully selected loyalists, and the AICC members who will elect the new CWC will also be selected by the new party president as the state units have been asked to authorise the party president to appoint them. The whole process is clearly rigged to elect either one of the Gandhis or their proxy as the party's national president, and pack the CWC with their nominees.

JHA'S PLAINSPEAK

"For almost two decades or more no one in the Congress expressed any interest in making the organizational polls transparent... As a result no one is ready to fight elections. And without a contest, the whole process will lack credibility," former Congress spokesperson Sanjay Jha said

This paper was the first to reveal that the Congress party's organisational elections would be rigged. The leadership has now gone a step further to also capture the posts of state president and CWC members.

Congress' central election authority chairman Madhusudan Mistry on Thursday said "the PROs will call a meeting of PCC delegates where they will pass resolutions to authorise the incoming president to appoint PCC presidents and AICC delegates."

He said out of the 23 CWC members, 12 are elected while 11 are nominated. "If there are more than 12 contenders for the CWC elected seats then there will be elections," he said.

Karnataka becomes 10th state with Act against 'forced' conversion

M G CHETAN @ Bengaluru

AMIDST strong opposition by the Congress and JDS members, the BJP government passed the contentious Karnataka Protection of Right to Freedom of Religion Bill 2022, also know as anti-conversion Bill, which makes forcible conversions a non-bailable and punishable offence, in the Legislative Council, on Thursday. Karnataka becomes the tenth state in the country to enact such a law.

The state assembly had passed the Bill in December 2021 but was tabled in the Council as the ruling BJP lacked the numbers to get the Bill cleared in the Upper House then. However, after the recent elections to the Council, the BJP has gained a majority. In May this year, the government promulgated an ordinance, which was criticised by the opposition.

The minimum jail term for offences under the newly-enacted law is three years with a penalty ranging from Rs 25,000 to Rs 2 lakh. Marriages with the sole purpose of unlawful conversions will be declared null and void by the courts on the filing of a petition either by the wife or the husband.

The House witnessed acrimonious scenes when Home Minister Araga Jnanendra proposed to pass the Bill after a five-hour debate. A few Congress members, including Leader of Opposition in Legislative Council, BK Hariprasad, tore the copies of the Bill, raised slogans against the BJP government, and accused the protem Chairman Raghunath Rao Malkapure of not being democratic, before staging a walkout. BBMP's flip-flop on encroachment demolition drive raises eyebrows

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

A sudden shift in the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike's (BBMP) approach for selectively choosing areas to halt removal of encroachments on drains — the "villains" behind the recent floods from the east to south-east parts of Bengaluru — has raised suspicions on whether the civic body is serious about the demolitions, or whether it is an eyewash.

BBMP's 'Operation Storm Water Drain Encroachment' drive to remove encroachments entered the fourth day. The civic body cleared 29 encroachments in four zones on Thursday, taking the tally to 73 since Monday.

Interestingly, the drive in parts of Mahadevapura zone which were the worst affected by the floods, and where JCBs were pressed for the first three days as part of the demolition, was stopped. The BBMP now wants to take up a 'survey' and only then resume the demolition drive. As part of the sudden change in stand, the BBMP set up a Survey Task Force after stopping the demolition drive until the survey was completed. Places like Vagdevi Layout, Munnekolalu, Kasavanahalli Village, ABK Village, Prestige Tech Park, Wipro, Sunny Brooks Doddakanahalli, Belathur Village, Sadaramangala Village, Bollenini Sasa Apartment Interior and Sai Garden Layout are being surveyed. Corporation officials and Land Surveyors Department officials conducted a survey and issued notices to the squatters.

Instead of focusing on removing encroachments in the worst-affected areas of Bengaluru, the BBMP has taken up the drive in Dasarahalli, Yelahanka (both in north Bengaluru), Bommanahalli (south) and parts of Mahadevapur zone (east and south-east). P2

Peace pact with eight Assam tribal groups

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

TEN years after a peace process began with eight Assam rebel adivasi groups, the Centre signed a tripartite agreement with the outfits, including the Birsa Commando Force (BCF), Adivasi People's Army (APA) and All Adivasi National Liberation Army (AANLA), here on Thursday in the presence of Union Home Minister Amit Shah.

The pact was signed "to end decades old crisis of adivasi and tea garden workers in Assam", the ministry said. The accord was followed by the laying down of arms by 1,182 cadre of the tribal groups who will now join the mainstream. The Adivasi Cobra Military of Assam (AMA), the Santhal Tiger Force and the other three outfits are splinter groups of the BCF, AANLA and the ACMA.

Pointing out that 8,000 militants in the northeast have laid down their weapons since 2014, Shah said that the Centre aimed to end "disputes related to armed groups" in the region before 2024.

Thursday's agreement entailed a responsibility on the part of the Centre and the Assam government to "fulfill the political, economic and educational aspirations of the adivasi groups".

The pact not only provides for the establishment of an Adivasi Welfare and Development Council that will "ensure speedy and focused development of tea gardens" but also work to rehabilitate and resettle the armed cadre and tea plantation workers.

The Centre also announced a ₹1,000-crore development package — ₹500 crore each by the Centre and the Assam government — for infrastructure development in the villages and areas where the adivasi population live.

HC to BBMP: Is a parallel authority enquiring into SWD encroachments?

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Thursday asked Bruhat Bangalore Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) whether removal of encroachments has been stayed, and if any parallel authority is enquiring into the storm water drain blockage issue.

A division bench of Acting Chief Justice Alok Aradhe and Justice S Vishwajith Shetty, which issued directions recently to the state government and BBMP for clearing encroachments on storm water drains and preventing dumping of any kind of waste into such drains, asked BBMP these two questions during the hearing of a public interest litigation.

Seeking response from the BBMP on the CAG report on the rajakaluve issue, the court adjourned the hearing to Friday. This was after BBMP informed the court that it is in the process of removing the remaining 627 encroachments on rajakaluves, of the total 2,626 encroachments identified during 2016-17.

BBMP filed a statement before court that out of 2,626 encroachments, BBMP removed 428 encroachments in 2016-17, 1,502 encroachments in 2018-19 and 69 encroachments between August 30, 2022, and September 13, 2022. Thus, as on September 13, 2022, the BBMP has removed 1,999 encroachments.

A BBMP earthmover demolishes sheds built on stormwater drains at Konanakunte in Bommanahalli Zone. The Palike on Thursday cleared 29 encroachments

"BBMP has taken all measures to ensure free flow of rainwater by clearing blockages and undertaken desilting of storm water drains from time to time," BBMP told court.

In compliance with the directions of the court, BBMP informed that it has set up a Citizens' Grievances Redressal Cell in all the wards to address problems arising due to unprecedented rain.

Meanwhile, BBMP informed the court that it has identified 2,231 major potholes as on September 14, 2022, and of which, it has filled up 2,010 potholes. Pointing out that cement blocks are being used to fill potholes, the court observed that it is very unfortunate that residents themselves are found filling potholes in some parts of the city.

Expertise sought

It was also stated before the court that in order to implement its proposed plan to install sluice gates to lakes in the city to avoid floods during the rainy season, the chief engineer of BBMP (Lakes) on Tuesday wrote to the Secretary of the Minor Irrigation Department requesting their expertise and also consultants who have worked on installation of sluice gates.

The letter was written after it came to know that the irrigation department installed maximum number of sluice gates for lakes in Chikkaballapura district.

'Those who gave NOCs must be held accountable'

BUT the areas where this drive continues were much less affected than where it has been stopped. This move has led to civic activists and Residents' Welfare Associations (RWAs) casting aspersions on the BBMP's actual intentions.

Civic activist Wing Commander (Retd) G P Athri said the drive seems to be an eyewash, and cited promises made by previous BBMP commissioners to remove these encroachments, despite which nothing happened. "Earlier N Manjunath Prasad promised an encroachment clearance drive; then B H Anil Kumar promised it; Gaurav Gupta also promised the same, but nothing happened. I have recently written a letter to BBMP Administrator Rakesh Singh (also the Additional Chief Secretary in Urban Development Department), asking him to step in to remove an encroachment near a drain in Bommanahalli. But till today, nothing has happened. This drive is just a knee-jerk reaction and an attempt to cool the sentiments of the public, impacted by floods, he said.

Echoing the same, Vidya Goggi from Bengaluru Apartments Federation, said, those who gave occupancy certificates, NOCs and other documents must be held accountable. "If we speak or point out, there are chances that we may get targeted. The BBMP's action is nothing but a knee-jerk reaction," she said.

Srinivas Alavilli from Janaagraha said it was time for Lokayukta to step in. "The Lokayukta should take up suo motu cases and initiate a probe," he said.

Rail fracture disrupts Metro operations

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A RAIL fracture on one of the tracks running between Kengeri Bus Terminal and Kengeri on Metro's Purple Line early on Thursday ensured major delays in journey for hundreds of commuters on the stretch between Mysore Road and Kengeri.

The stretch is relatively a new line with commercial operations launched on the 7.5-km line Mysore Road and Kengeri (extended Purple Line) only on August 30, 2021.

A S Shankar, Executive Director, Operations and Maintenance, Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) told TNIE, "One of our drivers noticed something unusual on the tracks near Kengeri around 6.30 am and reported it to us. It was a crack he had detected on one track. Due to safety reasons, we decided to stop running of trains on one track and trains were run only on our second track every 25 to 30 minutes."

Anjum Parwez, Managing Director, BMRCL said, "From 6.30 am and up to 12 noon, trains were run every 25 minutes only. Due to the single track for trains coming in both directions, there was a delayed run. There was no operation of trains in the regular 5 minute or 10 minute frequency that we usually do. Public were inconvenienced and had to wait longer for their trains," he said.

BMRCL restored the track temporarily and resumed operations on both tracks by noon. "The permanent restoration will take place tonight (Thursday) or tomorrow (Friday) night. We did not want to affect operations and so we made a temporary restoration. At no point of time were train operations completely suspended," he stressed.

"Since the problem was between Kengeri Bus Terminal and Kengeri, we ran trains even up to Jnanabharathi (two stop before Kengeri Bus Terminal) and brought them back," the MD said.

Chief Public Relations Officer, BMRCL, B L Yashvanth Chavan said, "The tracks were restored using temporary plates. It is a rail fracture and is a rare occurrence. We are investigating into the reasons behind it," Chavan added.

BBMP ACT AMENDED

Bengaluru: The Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (Amendment) bill was tabled in the assembly on Thursday to fix the reservation that will not exceed 50 per cent. The same was approved by the cabinet and ordinance was issued a few months back. According to the bill, it was considered necessary to amend the act to provide reservation of not more than 50 per cent to Schedule Castes, Scheduled Tribes, Other Backward Classes and women in the BBMP as provided in the urban local bodies and also to follow the direction of Supreme Court to conduct the BBMP polls. It also stated as the matter was urgent and both the houses of the state legislature were not in session, the BBMP amendment ordinance was promulgated. ENS

CM grants autonomy tag to UVCE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE University of Visvesvaraya College of Engineering (UVCE) was inaugurated and granted autonomy status by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday. Speaking on the occasion, Bommai said his government was committed to developing UVCE into an institution on par with the Indian Institute of Technology (IIT), in three years.

He said the autonomous status was necessary for the institute to make it grow independently and assured that his government would not interfere in its functioning and yet provide complete support in terms of resources needed.

The inauguration of UVCE coincided with the 162nd birth anniversary of M Visvesvaraya, which is also observed as Engineers' Day.

Higher Education Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan, who was present on the occasion, said the UVCE has become functional but maximum work was required from the students' end to achieve greater heights. He also said the initiative was in the pipeline for the past 20 years but it was only under the present BJP government that it saw the light of the day. The minister also announced that CET rank students will get first preference for admissions to UVCE.

B Muthuraman, UVCE Chairman and former chairman of Tata International and Tata Steel, said the inauguration was a major milestone in the history of the group which runs many institutions and said all efforts will be made to make it one of the best universities for technical education in the country.

Drive at Nalapad Academy stayed

Bengaluru: The Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike's demolition drive was put on hold after the Congress MLA N A Haris-owned Nalapad Academy management approached the High Court for a stay and demanded a joint survey. Following the development, the academy reportedly managed to get the stay till Friday as the case will again come up for hearing. Talking to New Indian Express, Assistant Engineer, Belanduru Ward, Srinivasulu said, "Today (Thursday) there was no drive. Once direction comes from higher officials, we will resume the operation." The Palike engineer had stated that Nalapad Academy had encroached 2.5 meter wide and 150.5 meter long stormwater drain at Survey No. 70/14. ENS

Builders point fingers at each other

Bengaluru: After the city corporation officials blamed citizens, apartment complexes and tech parks for the recent flooding due to encroachment, companies are now blaming each other for the errors. With Bagmane Tech Park pointing fingers at other builders and apartment complexes for the flooding, Puravankara Limited dismissed the allegations, saying none of their projects are illegal, as claimed by the former. Abhishek Kapoor, CEO, Purvanakara Ltd, said development was done as per the sanction plan and the project was executed 18 years ago (in 2004) as per the Comprehensive Development Plan. Spokespersons of Wipro said they have not received any notice from BBMP and the property has been constructed as per the sanctioned plans. ENS

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

16th September: Today's tone is Virgoan. With that simple statement, what I mean is that the people who are favoured are those who take care with detail, pay attention to instructions and do what they say they are going to do. Individuals who favour anarchy and chaos should stand back and wait until conditions move their way in a few days – or risk coming unstuck!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Balance is needed this week if you are to make the most of tremendous personal opportunities. Your daily stars, however, tell a different story, urging you to follow your heart no matter what. You never know - other people may actually respect you more.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
A relative or loved one may appear to need your help. Yet I believe that the real situation is the opposite, and that it is you who could do with a helping hand. Relatives must be encouraged to pamper you! You may have to do a little persuading, though.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Do not make any bold moves concerning your emotional situation until the picture is a little clearer. The fact that current stars are highly romantic can also mean that you are in a muddle! But it's all really to do with not knowing what choices are best for you.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
The Moon keeps your emotions on the move like so much water swilling around in a bucket. Don't complain if your mood is up one moment and down the next, but appreciate the marvellous variety of emotions which is your special gift. And if you're making your mind up, do it on the basis of the facts.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Your planetary picture is reaching a monthly peak of good fortune this evening. Your only enemy is impatience. Indeed, any difficulties will stem from a spirit of uncontrollable excess. Stay in command, especially of your emotions, and all should be smooth.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Partners are certainly in a mood to throw surprises your way. I doubt if you'll understand all the very many pleasant trends in your life at the moment, or accept that someone is working away on your behalf. But that's only because you tend to think that other people are just feathering their own nests.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You seem to have taken on rather too much and the practice may not prove as easy as the theory – but, then, it never does. You're partly saved by the fact that higher powers may come to your rescue, but in return you must maintain the best standards: nothing less will do.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You probably feel as if you're swimming around in a fog, a consequence of the fact that all your thoughts are being filtered through that most misty of planets, Neptune. All the same, I'd like to remind you that you need to keep up a good front at work.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Your foundations are shifting, and everything that takes place does so because your sense of freedom is reviving. Don't read any more into personal situations than is really there. What is happening may be unusual but is for the best. You may be reminded of an old friend or lover abroad, or may decide to fix up a foreign journey.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You are fascinated by all the hidden areas of life, and your interest in mysticism, spirituality or the occult is likely to be stimulated by Mercury's current relationship to those two psychic influences, Neptune and Uranus. On top of which, you have to watch your wallet!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You can have something you want, but only if you accept that its use or value may fade as time passes. On the other hand, if someone gives you something you haven't asked for, do respond graciously. Otherwise they may decide not to help you next time round.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Just because people like you, that doesn't mean that they have to do everything you want! Even those who have been somewhat difficult of late will change their tune and give you more support. Whether you will be granted all your wishes is another matter, and depends partly how far you are prepared to compromise.

UVCE: A Legacy Institution's Transformation

BASAVARAJ BOMMAI

It was the year 1917. Nalvadi Krishnaraja Wodeyar, considered to be among the most progressive kings of his time, was ruling Mysore. Sir M. Visvesvaraya, equally talented and a visionary, was his Diwan. The dreams and plans that both of them had for the development of the then Mysore state have remained eternal even after a hundred years have passed.

And they seem very relevant even now. One of them is the establishment of a government engineering college at a strategic location in Bengaluru. The college is now 107 years old and is located within walking distance of the Vidhana Soudha, Central College and SJ Polytechnic. Then, the institution was called the Government Engineering College and later became University Visvesvaraya College of Engineering (UVCE), and today, it is Sir M. Visvesvaraya Engineering University.

It is pertinent to note that this was the first engineering college established in the then state of Mysore and the fifth in the entire country. It was the view of Krishnaraja Wodeyar and Sir M.V. that such a college was needed to create talented people with all the technical and engineering skills required for a modern world. The institution has lived up to the dreams they envisioned, and has produced some eminent personalities like Dr.V.K.Atre, M.R. Srinivas, Roddam Narasimha, Prahlad, Anuradha, Vijaya Bhaskar, Ramesh Aravind and many others.

However, it seemed like this glorious era was fading. This red building, camouflaged behind a canopy of trees in Bengaluru's Krishnaraja circle, was in a dilapidated condition a few years ago, and became just one amongst the many engineering colleges in the State. This is when our government in Karnataka decided to revive this proud institution, which could have otherwise faded into memory.

Basavaraj Bommai, Chief Minister of Karnataka inaugurated the UVCE University yesterday.

Minister of Higher Education, Dr. C N Ashwathnarayan was present at the UVCE Campus, K R Circle.
The first autonomous institution on the lines of Indian Institute of Technology, the iconic 105-year-old historic institution has been renovated at a cost of Rs 10 crore. Currently, the institution has six departments and 3,300 students.

Engineers' Day was also observed on the occasion to mark the 162nd birth anniversary of Sir M Visvesvaraya.

UVCE has been granted the status of an autonomous University as per the NEP norms and guidelines.

Three years ago, when our government came into existence in the state, Dr. C. N. Ashwath Narayan took over the responsibility of the higher education department, we discussed the history of UVCE, importance and its contributions to the nation building process. I myself had long dreamt of studying in the reputed UVCE college. We concurred this institution was in dire need of holistic revamp.

Experts suggested that UVCE should be converted into an institution of excellence on the lines of IITs and IIMs in the country. On these lines, we instituted a committee under the leadership of Professor S Sadagopan to suggest how UVCE could be made a symbol of national pride and be elevated to the status of IITs or IIMs.

The committee suggested fundamental and profound changes and noted that the college should be made an independent and autonomous university, and this university should be financially, academically and administratively independent and autonomous in all respects. We accepted the Committee's recommendation and a notification in this regard was also issued in February 2022, followed by allocating a budget of Rs 150 crore annually to this purpose. Recently the cabinet has approved Rs. 85 crore for improvement of the Mechanical Block.

Like IITs and IIMs, this too will be a government-private partnership model. In addition, the Board of Directors shall have complete independence to oversee all the affairs of the institution. B.Muthuraman, a B.Tech from IIT Madras and MBA from XLRI Institute, Jamshedpur, served as vice president in Tata Steel, has been appointed as the first Chairman of this new University. Like him, there are many experienced members in the management board.

They shall design the curriculum to suit the contemporary needs and recruit experienced faculty to deliver them. The renovation of the university has now just begun at a cost of Rs 10 crore and every possible step is being taken to bring back its sheen. The Alumni Association headed by Major General Neelakanthappa has set up a state-of-the-art laboratory and they have promised to invest another Rs 30 crore more.

In the next eight years i.e. by 2030, I dream of bringing back the lost glory of this renowned college and elevate it to a position of eminence in the league of the IITs, IIMs and other global centres of technical excellence. In this regard, the University was formally inaugurated on Sir M. Visvesvaraya's birthday i.e. the 15th of September and the Higher Education Department released a roadmap of how the University shall shape up by 2030.

"Dare to dream, then decide to do" - this fundamental tenet is the driving force behind our goal to reinvigorate the lost sheen of this great cradle of learning started by the legend Sir M. Visvesvaraya.

The author is the Honourable Chief Minister of the State of Karnataka.

THOUGHTS FROM PERSONALITIES PASSIONATE ABOUT UVCE

Experts on education from Karnataka played a significant role in the formulation of National Education Policy (NEP) 2020. Karnataka has been the leader in implementing the NEP. Now , the Govt of Karnataka has taken yet another path breaking initiative in converting UVCE, hitherto a constituent college of Bangalore University into an autonomous, independent University, with an aspiration and vision to make it one of the best institutes for technical education in the country, along the lines of IITs. This move will transform technical education to world class levels not only in Karnataka but in the whole of India, over time. This bold and visionary initiative will have a strong impact on the progress of technology and innovation in the country. This is really the vision and foresight of the Basavaraj Bommai, chief minister of Karnataka piloted by the Dr. Ashwathnarayan, minister for Higher Education into fruition. As the saying goes, 'Vision combined with Action can change the world'.

- B Muthuraman, Chairman of UVCE Board of Governors

I am an engineer from UVCE, and a gold medalist too. I went to IIT-Delhi for M.Tech, post which I served here as a lecturer for 6 years. I share a strong bond of more than 10 years with this college. When compared to those days, we have world class infrastructure now. This transformation has been possible because of Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and Dr CN Ashwathnarayan, ardent believers of quality education. We should all work togther to restore the past glory of this great institution. UVCE has brought recognition and reward to many a people like me. Let us all join hands in rejuvenating this excellent institution and making it a model, not just in our State, but across the country.

- Manjunath Prasad, Principal Secretary to the Chief Minister

It was a privilege to be part of 'The Prof. Sadagopan Expert Committe' consisting of eminent and most experienced people that moved at lightning speed, especially during peak of Covid, conducting virtual meetings to submit UVCE Act in less than 60 days to make UVCE Autonomous, and after many iterations got the UVCE Act to a finish line. UVCE Students and Alumni will be eternally grateful for this.

- BV Jagadeesh, UVCE Alumni (1978 Batch), Silicon Valley-based serial entrepreneur, philanthropist & mentor

The launch of UVCE by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai is part of a much larger vision within the overall NEP. Karnataka has been a leader in the country in many spheres including Scientific & Defence R&D, IT and Biotech for decades; along with the other projects, the launch of UVCE would create a formidable number one position for Karnataka in the entire higher education space. The transformational projects under the Vision Group on higher education include Karnataka Higher Education Institutions Bill and RETE (Regional Ecosystem for Technical Excellence) and Karnataka Institutes of Technology.

- Prof. Sadagopan, Former Director, IIIT Bangalore

'UVCE as an autonomous institution will have strong relationship with industry and alumni'

Dr. C. N. Ashwathnarayan, Minister for Higher Education, speaks about the transformation that UVCE will witness on being upgraded to autonomous status as well as initiatives to be taken up on better industry connect, NEP 2020, and Vision 2030 for Higher Education.

Why is the Government upgrading UVCE to autonomous status? Is this just a change of status or will it transform technical education in Karnataka?

Giving UVCE an autonomous and independent status will indeed transform technical education at UVCE, and in due course, in Karnataka and India. Autonomy in matters of finance, academic and administrative matters are fundamental to superior and world class education.

Will it be on par with IITs? What is the vision?

Absolutely. The vision as envisioned by the Chief Minister of Karnataka is to transform UVCE to be among the best in the nation for technical education by 2030.

You say you want to develop UVCE into an institute of Eminence. Can you explain what you mean by it?

Institute of eminence means highest level of standard in everything it does. Be it quality of faculty, relevance of curriculum, collaborative research with industry, and eventually building world class engineers.

You are making UVCE an autonomous university. How will it help in improving quality and equity of education?

Autonomy implies freedom to choose the best and relevant curriculum, best faculty, provide the best Infrastructure to cater to the needs of meritorious students of all sections of society.

When you talk of autonomous, what is the freedom the institute gets and how will it be structured? What will be the role of the government here?

UVCE as an autonomous institution will have a close and strong relationship with industry and alumni and to have a finance structure where there is a balance between contributions from industry/alumni, fees and contribution from the State Government. We aim to achieve these by 2030. While UVCE will be independent and autonomous in all its functions, it will continue to be owned by the state government.

Will you allow participation of government, private institutions and organisations both in India and overseas?

Yes, very much. Industry will be very much a part of the future of UVCE in terms of collaborative research work, setting up relevant curriculum, support in teaching, financial grants, etc.

Also how will it help to improve employability and research of our youth and increase job opportunities?

Providing better teaching and learning ambience will, naturally, result in the students passing out of UVCE better equipped to meet the demands of the present day job opportunities and therefore provide them with good career opportunities. Also they become globally competent engineers.

How will you establish better connect with the industry? What steps are being taken?

Bangalore and Karnataka are well known for technology and industry. Industry will be contacted and offered research work from UVCE which will be useful to the industry. In term, this collaboration between UVCE and industry will further improve the quality of research work and teaching at UVCE. One will feed on the other for the betterment of both.

How this initiative fits in the overall National Education Policy 2020?

It is indeed very much in line with NEP 2020. NEP stipulates that the practice of affiliating colleges to a university should be discontinued and such colleges should equip themselves to become universities, which will give necessary autonomy and governance structure to keep up with modern times.

UVCE as an autonomous institution will have a close and strong relationship with industry and alumni and to have a finance structure where there is a balance between contributions from industry/alumni, fees and contribution from the State Government. We aim to achieve these by 2030. While UVCE will be independent and autonomous in all its functions, it will continue to be owned by the state government.

What is your view on making the prestigious institution named after Sir M Visvesvaraya?

Sir. M. Visvesvaraya was not only a great engineer from Karnataka, he was an all time great engineer of India and even in the world. His contribution to the development of Karnataka is immense. He had a big role to play in many important projects at the national level. He is the one who started the 5th oldest engineering college of India, in Karnataka, in the name of Government Engineering College, which later became UVCE. It is only fitting that the first institute of state eminence in Karnataka bears his name.

Will this be the model institution for other states to emulate, thereby setting the trend for the country to follow?

Yes. This is what I expect to happen in due course.

You had talked about vision 2030 for higher education. What does that entail and what progress have you made towards achieving this?

Karnataka has, over the years, taken several steps towards enhancing higher technical education. The state has been the leader in implementing the NEP. The creation of UVCE as an autonomous, independent university is a major step towards making technical education to world class standards.

The government has decided to celebrate late actor Puneeth Rajkumar's birth anniversary (March 17) as Inspiration Day. Kannada and Culture Minister Sunil Kumar has tweeted that he had made an appeal to CM Bommai to celebrate the day as Spoorthi Dina (Inspiration Day) and the latter approved

Assembly sees heated arguments over PSI scam

Cong demands debate by moving adjournment motion, govt rejects it

Congress leaders Siddaramaiah, UT Khader, RV Deshpande and Ramalinga Reddy engaged in a heated argument in the Assembly on Thursday | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Assembly on Thursday witnessed chaotic scenes as both the ruling BJP and Opposition Congress entered into a war of words over the alleged police sub-inspector (PSI) recruitment scam.

While the Congress members demanded that Speaker Vishweshwar Hegde Kageri allow a discussion on the PSI scam, the ruling party members sought a debate on all recruitment scams, including those that happened during the Congress regime.

Kageri, however, said he would allow for a discussion on all burning issues, including the PSI scam, before the session concludes next week.

Leader of Opposition Siddaramiah, who wanted to discuss the PSI scam under Rule 60 of the House, called the scam an issue of urgent public importance. Kageri said the matter was sub judice. Siddaramiah, however, said the House in the past too had debated issues that were sub judice.

Congress legislators demanded that Kageri allow for a debate under Rule 60 (adjournment motion).

Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister JC Madhu Swamy, however, said the matter cannot be discussed under Rule 60 asonly recent developments can be discussed under the rule. "We have arrested top officers of the police department, including an ADGP. What Congress could not do, we have done," the minister said.

Irked by this, Congress members created a ruckus.

"Why only the PSI recruitment scam... there are many other recruitment scams of the past. Let us discuss all of them. If it is allowed under Rule 60, only PSI scam can be discussed. Let everything come out," Madhu Swamy told the House.

The House is likely to discuss the matter next week after discussion on the flood havoc.

CM Basavaraj Bommai is likely to reply when the session resumes on Friday. Comprehensive scheme for waste management in B'luru: CM

Bengaluru: Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday said that the State Government will come up with a comprehensive scheme for managing huge waste generated in Bengaluru each day. Responding to Congress MLC PR Ramesh on measures taken to process wet waste and funds allocated for it, Bommai said that the government has allocated Rs 600 crore for waste collection and processing this year and Rs 200 crore has been spent up to July end. The CM said the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) lacks a consistent and comprehensive plan to handle the waste. Referring to plans to generate power from wet waste, the CM said though there have been talks of generating power from waste for 20 years, not a single unit of energy was generated from waste. Waste is not waste if it is processed and converted into manure and the BBMP can even earn money, he said. ENS

Araga: No protection for anyone in Bitcoin case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

HOME Minister Araga Jnanendra on Thursday informed the State Legislative Council that there is no question of protecting anyone in the Bitcoin cases, and if opposition members provide any evidence, the government will order a probe.

Responding to Janata Dal-Secular MLC TA Saravana's question if the state police are working with investigating agencies from any other countries, Araga said investigating agencies in the United States of America are also probing Bitcoin-related cases in their country, but there is no information about anyone from Karnataka or any other state being involved in it. The state police have not contacted any international agencies for the ongoing investigations, he said.

The minister said Sriki, accused in the Bitcoin case, misled police by showing a Bitcoin exchange and there is nothing in the case. "Who lost money? If anyone lost money, why have they not filed a complaint?" the minister said. The government has already provided all information about the Bitcoin case, as the issue was discussed in the Assembly and Council many times, and if members provide any details, the government will get it investigated, he said. Araga informed the Council that police are investigating 77 cases related to Bitcoins. Saravana said the US President had called the Indian Prime Minister to inquire about the probe.

Karnataka seeks NHAI help to clear illegal tolls

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE State Government has decided to approach the National Highway Authority of India (NHAI) to seek cancellation of illegal tolls put up at short distances across the state. PWD Minister C C Patil said such tolls will be identified and a report will be submitted to the NHAI.

Congress MLA U T Khader raised the issue of tolls near Surathkal in Dakshina Kannada district during Zero Hour. He said there are tolls within 30 km distance, whereas the NHAI guidelines say that tolls should be at least 60 km apart.

Replying to Khader, the minister said there are two tolls at Surathkal managed by two builders —Navayuga and NMPRCL — and admitted that the tolls are within 60 km. "We have already written to the NHAI seeking cancellation and they have agreed" he said.

Khader said there are 19 illegal tolls across the state. "Union Minister Nitin Gadkari had assured in March 2022 that the tolls would be removed. It's been six months and nothing has been done," he said.

Govt ignoring CAG report on sewage: KBG

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AMID the issue of encroachments on 'rajakaluves' creating havoc in Bengaluru, Congress MLAs K J George and Krishna Byregowda raised the Comptroller and Auditor-General (CAG) report on sewage water being released into Storm Water Drains (SWDs), in the assembly on Thursday.

There were stringent rules that apartments should have their own Sewage Treatment Plants (STPs) as sewage cannot bereleased into SWDs, but many are violating it, alleged George.

Krishna Byregowda criticised the government, saying it had not gone through the CAG report as Law Minister J C Madhuswamy has advised the House not to discuss the issue of sewage water being released into SWDs, with the apprehension that it may attract the attention of the National Green Tribunal (NGT). "But the CAG has documented and tabled a report," he pointed out.

He took a dig at the BJP for blaming the havoc on previous Congress governments, despite the fact that the BJP and JDS have ruled the state for 24 years since 1983. He reiterated that the Congress, during the Siddaramaiah government, had cleared encroachments on a 400km stretch out of 805km, and even the BJP government's record of clearing them on 33km was planned during that regime. "The BJP, which should have continued the operation, has diverted Rs 1365 crore set aside for other works," he said.

George held CM Basavaraj Bommai's hectic schedule responsible for ignoring Bengaluru's issues, saying he had himself held the Bengaluru in-charge post. "When B S Yediyurappa was chief minister, things were different, with Katta Subramanya Naidu and R Ashoka responding quickly. I am not saying Bommai is not capable, but time is a constraint for him," he explained.

COCOON REELERS HIT

Taking up the rain havoc issue, Ramanagara MLA Anita Kumaraswamy revealed that her assembly segment was worst hit, with corpses rising to the surface in a graveyard at Maralavadi. "The Silk City was affected with water gushing into cocoon reeler factories. Some bridges collapsed, cutting off connection to several villages," she said, and insisted that silk cocoon reelers be given compensation and loans at zero per cent interest to reconstruct their business.

KARNATAKA 10TH STATE TO INTRODUCE ANTI-CONVERSION LAW

Karnataka is the 10th state to introduce an anti-conversion law after Uttar Pradesh, Gujarat, Himachal Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Arunachal Pradesh, Chhattisgarh, Uttarakhand, Jharkhand and Odisha.

BURDEN OF PROOF

The burden of proof as to whether the religious conversion was not effected through misrepresentation, force, undue influence, allurement, or by any fraudulent means or by marriage lies on the person who has caused the conversion and the abettor who aids or abets such conversions.

INSTITUTIONS

If any institution violates the provisions of the Act, the person or persons in-charge of the affairs of the institution shall be liable for punishment.

DECLARATION FOR CONVERSION

Any individual who wishes to change his/her religion or convert a person must give a declaration in a prescribed form at least 30 days in advance to the District Magistrate. The DM shall notify the proposed religious conversion on the notice board of the DM's office and in Tahsildar's office calling for objections, if any. After inquiry, if the officer comes to a conclusion of the commission of an offence under the Act, he shall direct police to initiate criminal action for contravention of the provisions of the Act.

New law will not stop anyone from choosing their religion: Bommai

JNANENDRA, who tabled the Bill, said the state has witnessed many instances of conversion by allurement, coercion, force, fraudulent means and also mass conversions in the recent years. "The incidents caused disturbance of public order and currently there is no legislation in existence in the state to prevent such instances, which cause disturbance to public order, and to punish persons indulged in such conversions."

He added that many Dalits, who had converted to other religions, were getting benefits provided for Dalits even after conversion while also enjoying the benefits offered to minorities. "The new law will stop such persons from snatching away the facilities provided for Dalits," he said.

During the discussion on the Bill, the opposition members termed the bill 'unconstitutional' and that it would snatch people's fundamental right guaranteed by the Constitution to profess, practice and propagate any religion of their choice.

The Upper House witnessed heated exchange of words between the members of the ruling and opposition parties, including CM Basavaraj Bommai and opposition leader Hariprasad. The latter said the Bill was a conspiracy against equality and to continued treating Dalits and people from other underprivileged sections as second-grade citizens. He also said the hidden agenda was to target minorities and said the Christian population in the country was seeing a declining trend. "As per the census in 2001 and 2011, the Christian population was 2.34% and 2.30% respectively, in India, and the same in Karnataka was 1.91% and 1.87%," he said. "Those who feel there is no equality and respect for them in their religion will leave it and embrace another religion. Why do you need to stop them from choosing the religion they want?" Hariprasad questioned.

Bommai clarified that the new law will not stop anyone from choosing any religion but only prohibits forcible conversion and conversion done by allurement. The ruling party members joined him in saying this was not an anti-conversion Bill but was to protect religions.

Health issues keep Mamani, Sudhakar out of House

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

AFTER the sudden demise of former Forest Minister Umesh Katti (61) following a heart attack, politicians are not taking chances. Just a hint of a fever or a sneeze, and legislators are calling in sick and even skipping the session.

Assembly Deputy Speaker and Yellamma MLA Anand Mamani, who has been absent from the House for a few days, was rushed to Chennai due to health reasons. With his supporters expressing concern, Mamani put out a video of himself on social media, clarifying that he is at a health facility in Chennai, that things are 'fine'.

"According to the advice of former CM BS Yediyurappa and many of my legislator friends, I have moved to Chennai for treatment. No one should listen to rumours that I am seriously unwell... After consulting a particular top medical expert, I will return to Bengaluru. Health is one area in a person's life where there can be ups and downs," went his video on Twitter. Due to Mamani's absence, Kumar Bangarappa took the Speaker's seat when Speaker V H Kageri took a short break.

Meanwhile, Health Minister K Sudhakar, who has been busy organising Janaspandana, the BJP government's celebration, was visibly tired too, and was not present in the House. Sudhakar too took to Twitter to inform, "Due to ill-health, doctor has advised rest for a few days. For this reason, I regret I will not be able to participate in the proceedings of the House."

DKS SUMMONED BY ED IN MONEY LAUNDERING CASE

ENS @ New Delhi

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Thursday summoned Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) Congress chief DK Shivakumar to join investigation in connection with a money laundering case. According to the ED, Shivakumar, who was a minister in Karnataka during the Congress regime, had generated huge amount of illegal cash and a criminal conspiracy was hatched with other co-accused persons for tax evasion and the tainted cash was transported from Bengaluru to Delhi.

The agency has asked Shivakumar to appear before its Delhi office. A Delhi court, in August this year, had granted bail to Shivakumar and other people accused in 2018 money laundering case registered by the ED.

On August 2, 2017, the Income Tax Department carried out raids at various locations in Delhi and had seized unaccounted cash to the tune of Rs 8,59,69,100. The Income Tax department had filed chargesheet against Shivakumar and others accused before a court in Bengaluru for alleged tax evasion and hawala dealings. Based on the Income tax department action, the ED filed the money laundering case.

It is alleged that Shivakumar and his associate SK Sharma were transporting unaccounted cash on a regular basis through 'hawala' channels with the help of three other accused.

WILL COOPERATE, SAYS DKS, BUT QUESTIONS TIMING

Mysuru: Reiterating that he is ready to face any probe, KPCC president D K Shivakumar on Thursday said that any threatening from the BJP or agencies cannot stop him from raising his voice against the saffron party. Responding to the ED summons during his visit to Mysuru, Shivakumar said that he is ready to cooperate. "But the timings of the summons to appear before them is coming in the way of discharging my Constitutional and political duties. This is nothing but harassment," he said. Meanwhile, several Congress leaders came out in support of Shivakumar. Taking to Twitter, Siddaramaiah said, "In an attempt to thwart the preparations for Bharat Jodo Yatra and harass Congress leaders ED has summoned KPCC president again. While INC Karnataka continues to expose the 40 per cent sarkar, BJP is misusing institutions to divert attention of the people. I condemn this." Meanwhile, Shivakumar visited Badanavalu village, which is synonymous for Khadi movement, ahead of senior Congress leader and Wayanad MP Rahul Gandhi's visit to the village as part of Bharat Jodo Yatra on October 1 and 2. The villag hosted Mahatma Gandhi in 1927 where the Badanavalu Khadi and Gramodyog Centre was established in 1927 with four Dalit women, with an intention to uplift the economy of Dalits in the village. ENS

21 held over threat to Alliance varsity registrar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

ANEKAL police have arrested 21 people who allegedly barged into Alliance University premises in Kasaba Hobali and threatened the registrar with a gun and lethal weapons.

Based on a complaint filed by the registrar, Nivedita Mishra, a case has been registered against the ex-chancellor of Alliance University Madhukar Angur, Swarnalatha and their associates under various sections including Indian Arms Act, 1959 (U/s-25). The prime accused Swarnalatha is the mother of actress Sreeleela. Swarnalatha is currently absconding, police said.

A senior police officer said that Nivedita alleged in her complaint that on September 10, around 11 am, a group of people including Swarnalatha and Angur stormed into the campus and told the students and security staff to leave the premises. The duo then entered Nivedita's chamber and flashed a gun. They claimed that the premises belongs to them. Some bouncers who accompanied the two created ruckus before leaving campus. Police said, a team has been formed to trace Swarnalatha. The other accused who were arrested have been remanded in judicial custody.

Vit D_3 drops in kids, docs advise few hrs in the Sun

Survey finds deficiency root cause of progressive myopia in children

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

LIMITED outdoor activities and minimal exposure to sunlight due to the pandemic, which confined people to their homes in the past two-and-half years, has led to Vitamin D_3 deficiency, which might have proven costly for some children. A pilot study conducted by a doctor at a city-based hospital, has indicated deficiency of Vitamin D_3 to be the root cause of progressive myopia in children (short-sightedness) and also a slight spurt in cases.

During the study, conducted between January and July this year, among 51 children who suffered progressive myopia in the age group of 8 to 14 years, including 31 boys and 20 girls, it was found that serum Vitamin D_3 levels were deficient (less than 20ng/ml - nanogram per millilitre) in 38 children, according to Dr Sowmya R, consultant, department of pediatric ophthalmology and strabismus, Sankara Eye Hospital.

Myopia, a common cause of visual impairment in children in the school going age group, is seen in 5.3 per cent children and 35.6 per cent in adults in India. It is one of the most common causes of decline in vision, which starts manifesting in childhood and can progress over the years, and lead to higher risks of pathological myopia (severe vision loss) and complications like retinal detachment, glaucoma and others.

She added, "We noted low Vitamin D levels in most new onset myopes (new patients of myopia) or fast progressing myopes (old patients of myopia) who came for follow-up. So we took up a detailed study. If Vitamin D3 deficiency is addressed, the progression of myopia can be minimised in childhood itself. Vitamin D levels should be monitored in children, and parents must ascertain that children get a minimum of 90 minutes' exposure to sunlight every day, as deficiency in Vitamin D can lead to visual impairment and other health complications," Dr Sowmya said.

Empty beds in the ICU ward of Vijayanagara Institute of Medical Sciences after patients were shifted to the operation theatre | EXPRESS

PANEL TO PROBE DEATHS IN VIMS

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR
@Ballari/Bengaluru

THE state government has formed a committee to investigate into the deaths of two patients in the ICU of Vijayanagara Institute of Medical Sciences (VIMS) in Ballari due to alleged power failure which led to interruption of oxygen supply on Wednesday night, said Health Minister K Sudhakar. The panel will be headed by Dr Smitha.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai announced Rs 5 lakh compensation to the next of kin of the deceased.

Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah raised the issue during Zero Hour and blamed the authorities for alleged negligence. The generator even was not working which led to a power cut resulting in the deaths of patients on ventilator. Congress MLA UT Khader too slammed the government over the issue.

The VIMS authorities have denied allegations of negligence. Though they admitted that power cut was an issue, it did not lead to the deaths. A report will be submitted to the state government by VIMS authorities.

The team doctor clarified that the patients who died were not on ventilator.

Ballari district in-charge Minister B Sriramulu, however, also denied that deaths were due to power failure. Generators and UPS were working, he claimed.

Congress members created an uproar in the House and demanded a probe. Law Minister JC Madhuswamy also claimed that the generator was working. "We will also check if there is a lapse on the part of hospital authorities," he said.

Congress leader from Ballari Nara Bharat Reddy said, "The hospital has issues with power supply which was not looked into. The hospital staffers are saying today that the generator was defunct. The people responsible for running the hospital must be answerable," he said.

Ballari DC Pavan Kumar Malapati, visited the hospital on Thursday, and said, "As precaution, the patients in ICU have been shifted. The issues pertaining to the electricity supply will be looked into. The authorities have brought a few issues like old buildings and poor electricity system to my notice on which a detailed report will be sent to the government," the officer said.

The parents said the girl had gone to a pharmaceutical shop which is just 100m away from the house, and did not return.

A case was registered under IPC section 363, and a probe launched on Tuesday.

The police on Wednesday received a tip-off that the girl was spotted near the MBGS bus stand. She was rescued and handed over to her parents. She revealed that she was kidnapped by two youth, and was taken to two hotels in Nampally, and sedated before being gang raped.

On Wednesday afternoon, when she regained her consciousness, she found herself alone, and left the hotel. Police have traced the two accused Syed Naimath Ahmeed (26) and Ravish Ahmed Mehdi (20) at their residences in the city and arrested them under IPC section 376DA.

The victim has been sent for medical examination, an officer said, adding that she will be counselled by Bharosa Centre to help her overcome the trauma, and record her statement.

CCTV footage gathered from Srujana Stay Inn and Three Castles Delux Lodge located within a radius of two km in Nampally, corroborates the victim's statement. The medical test will ascertain the presence of drugs. The accused have been sent to judicial custody on Friday. Police said that action will be taken against the hotels for allowing the minor, the officer said.

A local BJP leader Rajendran was also part of the racket. Pugalenthi, the then inspector of Ennore police station, had also sexually assaulted her.

Groom accused of love jihad, assaulted

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chikkamagaluru

A Hindu girl, in love with a Muslim boy, on Wednesday approached the sub-registrar's office to register their marriage officially.

A few pro-Hindu activists, who learnt about the incident, came to the office and allegedly assaulted the boy, terming the marriage as 'Love Jihad'. The boy has lodged a complaint in connection with the assault at a police station.

The girl is from Lakshmipura, near Dasarahalli in Kasaba taluk. Members of a few Hindu outfits accused the boy of committing 'Love Jihad' and assaulted him. They took the pair to Basavanahalli Women's police station.

Soon after the incident, district SP Uma Prashanath rushed to the police station. She said that the boy, who got engaged to marry the girl, had lodged a complaint accusing the Hindu activists of moral policing.

She added that an investigation has been launched.

The police confirmed that the pair had agreed to marry with mutual consent without any coercion. They have also ruled out 'Love Jihad' and said that the moral policing incident will be investigated.

The mother of the girl, Shobha, who is a labourer, arrived at the Women's police station and demanded that the police show her daughter's face.

The woman, who was in tears, said that she only wished her daughter to look after her husband and in-laws.

"I approve of my daughter's marriage to the Muslim boy. I just want her and my son-in-law to return to my home unscathed," said Shobha.

AFTER E-BIKE FIRE, QUALITY CONTROL OF BATTERIES NEED OF HOUR

The blaze in an e-bike showroom in a hotel basement in Secunderabad that claimed eight lives on Monday is a chilling reminder of how the battery packs that power these bikes could turn into ticking time bombs. How the fire was caused is still a matter of investigation, but it is suspected that either a battery exploded or the batteries being charged caused a short circuit leading to the fire. Electric Vehicles (EVs), especially e-bikes, have become a craze in the country, and their production is encouraged as policy by the government. Still, it is only now that the people are coming face to face with the cons involved.

As electric mobility appears irreversible, the manufacturers are investing heavily to handle the danger of e-batteries causing fire hazards and gaining knowledge about the right methods for swapping or charging the batteries and the batteries' energy-holding capacities. The e-bike or e-scooter runs on a battery. It has to be charged regularly at certified battery recharge stations. Given that the battery-operated vehicle involves new technology, it needs a lot of care to see that the processes of charging or replacing batteries are safe. Overcharging batteries, leaking batteries, or batteries in unsafe casings can lead to short circuits. Quality control of the manufacture or assembly of batteries is another issue. Understanding the reasons why fires are caused and how it should be managed are the challenges facing the R&D department of manufacturers.

EV technology is also being adopted to cut CO2 emissions and reduce dependence on fossil fuels. In India's case, a switch-over to EV mode of transportation can prevent the emission of one giga tonne of CO2 by 2030. However, there is an urgent need to realise the dangers of the fumes from a burning battery or an EV. The fumes contain gases lethal to human beings. In the present Indian context, the only option before the government is to bring in high-quality safety standards and insist on the use of quality batteries that are less fire-prone like those that use Lithium Iron Phosphate cathodes. The concern over the possibility of e-bike fires has made the government announce new measures from October 1 for introducing effective battery management systems to look after battery safety. Only strict adherence to these systems can avoid future accidents.

DON'T KILL STRAYS, VACCINATE THEM

A canine problem dogs Kerala. The sudden spurt in dog bite cases and rabies deaths has turned the focus on the growing number of community dogs in the state. Official records say there have been nearly one lakh dog bite incidents this year alone. Unofficially, the number is pegged close to two lakh. There have been 22 rabies deaths so far this year; alarmingly, five of those were despite the victims being administered the anti-rabies vaccines. According to a 2019 survey, Kerala had about 2.89 lakh community dogs, and their numbers are said to have since grown exponentially. The rise in dog attacks and the media frenzy around them have created an atmosphere of fear, with many voices calling for eliminating the animals to protect people. The animosity towards dogs, though understandable, is not justified because the problem results from a combination of factors for which dogs aren't responsible; authorities and people are.

The rise in stray dog numbers could directly be attributed to the total neglect of the Animal Birth Control (ABC) programme in the last two years. Vaccination of dogs, too, was ignored. People adopting and abandoning dogs at will is another reason. They are also responsible for the unregulated dumping of meat and poultry waste these community dogs feed and thrive on. There is also an argument that feeding on meat waste is turning dogs ferocious.

With the Supreme Court and Kerala High Court stepping in, the state government will have to act fast and put an end to the dog attacks. As the HC rightly pointed out, the government must protect people from dogs and, at the same time, ensure that they don't take the law into their hands. Waking up rather late, the Kerala government has embarked on a mass vaccination and ABC drive. It has also identified 170 hot spots across the state—recording ten dog bite incidents on average every month—for immediate action.

While that's commendable, what's not is its decision to seek permission to kill "ferocious" dogs. With there being no criteria to identify dangerous dogs, this could lead to mass culling. As a solution, killing is cruel and temporary at best. The government should instead look at measures like strengthening ABC and vaccination programmes, rehabilitating dogs, and cracking down on waste dumping.

QUICK TAKE

KNOWLEDGE AND IDEOLOGY

Delhi's Lieutenant Governor Vinai Saxena wants Delhi's universities to organise exposure trips to border areas for students as part of 'Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav'. They can better appreciate "our independence and sovereignty", he feels. It is a novel idea with flawed planning. Tours are educational without ideological tags attached. Unlike hypothetical situations in classrooms, they expose students to real-life issues. Such visits have the potential to ignite discussions among students, accommodate diverse opinions and help contextualise the tour sites in the current national discourse. Excursions unencumbered by dogma help students become an informed citizenry, the prerequisite for a vibrant democracy.

The departure of Azad will have lasting repercussions, which bodes ill for the Congress party and for democracy itself because it weakens the idea of a credible opposition

AZAD's EXIT A BIG LOSS FOR CONGRESS

A SURYA PRAKASH

Former Chairman of Prasar Bharati and scholar of democracy studies

SOURAV ROY

The decline of the Congress has been noticeable over the last decade, and committed members of the party like Azad and his friends in the Group of 23, who mustered the courage to raise the red flag two years ago, tried in vain to reverse the party's fortunes but with little success. But, far from listening to the sage counsel of party veterans, the Nehru-Gandhis, who own and control the party, unleashed vicious campaigns against G-23 members, forcing them to go into a sulk or head for the exit like Azad.

It is now obvious to everyone that the central problem is the inability of the Congress party to escape from the stranglehold of the Nehru-Gandhis, who seem to have run out of ideas but are unwilling to pass on the baton to other, more energetic politicians who can at least try to rejuvenate the party. After a brief lull in the post-Rajiv Gandhi phase, the family took over the reins after the party's poor performance in the 1996 Lok Sabha election under the leadership of Prime Minister P V Narasimha Rao. In that election, the party secured 28.80% of the vote and 140 seats. This was considered a disaster, and Rao was soon dislodged as party president, and Sitaram Kesri stepped in. But family loyalists felt that the party could not recover ground unless it took charge. So, following a coup, Sonia Gandhi was appointed president of the party in 1998, within months of becoming a primary party member. She handed over the reins to her son Rahul Gandhi in 2017, who quit after a two-year stint and handed the baton back to his mother.

After Sonia Gandhi took charge in 1998, the party's highest vote share was 28.55% in 2009, with which it bagged a phenomenal 211 seats in the Lok Sabha. This was primarily because of the Bharatiya Janata Party's failure to present a credible alternative. But, with the arrival of Narendra Modi on the national scene, the Congress party's fortunes plunged. It registered its lowest vote share, 19.30% in 2014 and 19.46% in 2019. It failed to get even 10% of the seats in the Lok Sabha, which is necessary for its leader to be recognised as Leader of the Opposition. Given current electoral trends, the party's share of the national vote could dip even further. This is indeed a steep fall from the 42–45% vote share that the party commanded during the Jawaharlal Nehru-Indira Gandhi days and the 49.10% polled by the party in 1984 in the post-Indira Gandhi assassination election. These statistics establish that the family's charisma has faded, and the party can no longer hook its fortunes to a single family.

Ghulam Nabi Azad joined the Congress party in the mid-1970s. He was a Union minister from 1982 in Congress governments headed by Indira Gandhi, Rajiv Gandhi, P V Narasimha Rao and Manmohan Singh. During this political journey, he has held key positions in the party, conducted himself with dignity, and upheld the best traditions of the Congress. Given his sobriety, one can imagine what could have driven him to the point of delivering such a harsh indictment of Rahul Gandhi. He says that unfortunately, Rahul Gandhi "demolished" the entire consultative mechanism and allowed a new coterie of "inexperienced sycophants" to run the party's affairs. He accuses him of "childish behaviour" (tearing up a government ordinance in 2013), completely subverting the authority of Prime Minister Manmohan Singh at that time.

Azad's letter is a virtual charge sheet against Rahul Gandhi that lays bare the reasons for the tragic downslide of the party over the last eight years.

He says that in August 2020, when he and 22 other senior colleagues, including former Union ministers and chief ministers wrote to Sonia Gandhi to flag the abysmal drift in the party, the coterie chose to unleash its sycophants on us "and got us attacked, vilified and humiliated in the crudest manner possible". They even held a mock funeral procession of Azad in Jammu. Those who committed this indiscipline were feted in Delhi by the General Secretaries of the AICC and by Rahul Gandhi personally. Subsequently, the same coterie unleashed its goondas to attack the residence of Kapil Sibal physically, he says.

Since the 2019 elections, the party has lost the will and the ability to fight. Azad's letter holds a mirror to the mother-son combine that runs the party and reminds them that between 2014 and 2022, the Congress party has lost 39 of the 49 assembly elections held in the country. All important decisions were being taken by Rahul Gandhi "or rather worse, his security guards and PAs". His final diagnosis was: "The Congress Party has reached a point of no return …..(it) has been comprehensively destroyed …".

Many have come into the Congress over the years, and many have gone. Still, the departure of Ghulam Nabi Azad will have deep and lasting repercussions, which bodes ill for the Congress party and for democracy itself because it weakens the idea of a credible opposition to the BJP at the national level. The BJP had declared many years ago that it would like to see a Congress-mukt Bharat. But it appears as if the BJP need not labour hard. Members of the Congress are on the job, and as one can see, the party is imploding. A question that is often asked is, "Who will stem the rot?" but there are never any easy answers. Going by the internal dissensions in the party, one guess is that if the party's leadership is Gandhi parivar-mukt, it may be able to stem the tide and prevent the BJP's dream of the Congress-mukt Bharat from becoming a reality.

Is it a matter of jubilation or concern that India has the third-largest number of billionaires? People getting wealthier per se may not be a bad idea. But a nation recovering from the devastating effect of the pandemic and reeling under the onslaught of all-time high fuel and cooking gas prices, high inflation, massive unemployment and agricultural distress naturally gets an eerie feeling from this skewed accumulation of wealth.

Even more unnerving is the popular hypothesis and perception that the burgeoning wealth of the billionaires is a direct offshoot of favourable government policies. Disinvestment of profit-making public sector enterprises, even in strategic sectors like oil, space, life insurance and defence, acquires legitimacy by the logic of liberalisation. Liberal tax concessions to the wealthy corporates are justified in the name of growth which is meant to percolate! This policy slant is evident in the abject indifference of the State to address the immense human tragedy that unfolded in the massive reverse migration triggered by an unplanned national lockdown. There has been unmistakable reluctance on the part of the government to reach out to these poor workers and their distraught families. The farm laws met with formidable resistance primarily because they were perceived as a ploy to help a few corporate houses rather than the farmers. Privatisation of airports and seaports started even before 2014, but seldom was it seen as an orchestrated game to help the privileged billionaires.

The apostles of liberalisation and privatisation firmly believe that the private sector, guided by the invisible hand of the market, will discover the most efficient systems that are low on costs and high on efficiency. They consider welfare schemes not only ineffective but also unethical. Schemes that directly transfer financial help to citizens are frowned upon by hardcore liberalisation enthusiasts and their high-profile economists. And the government sings the same tune.

The arguments are that such schemes distort the economy, divert investible resources to non-productive uses and in the process make the citizens lazy, killing the spirit of self-reliance. Rather expectedly, the prime minister voiced concern over the desirability of 'freebies' and wanted the country to rethink. In a close sequence, the matter was brought before the Supreme Court. The ideological faith that looks at welfare economics with suspicion is calling the shots. Essentially, it is the government doubting itself and thinking aloud about how to get out of direct welfare expenditure. This unwavering trust in the efficiency of the private sector explains almost all major policy initiatives of the Central government in recent years. The National Education Policy 2020 is a glaring instance. The NEP not only trusts and encourages private involvement in education but also seeks to sideline public institutions. It explicitly states that "private institutions with a public-spirited commitment to high-quality, equitable education will be encouraged." (10.11). Further, the Policy lays down the principles of fee regimen in private educational institutions. "Private HEIs (Higher Education Institutions) having a philanthropic and public-spirited intent will be encouraged through a progressive regime of fee determination. Transparent mechanisms for fixing fees, with an upper limit for different types of institutions depending on their accreditation, will be developed so that individual institutions are not adversely affected. This will empower private HEIs to set fees for their programmes independently…" (18.14). The concern is not about students' ability to pay but about the 'adverse effect' on the private institution!

> Illiberal oligarchies have stymied competition. The State plays second fiddle to the rich and the privileged, obliterating the plight of the poor and the powerless

The stated and unstated bias in favour of the private sector is evident in the health sector as well. The encouragement and patronage received by private sector players in the development of vaccines against Covid-19 and the disparaging indifference of the Central government towards public sector laboratories, the reluctance to control the price of vaccines, and the subsequent intervention of the Supreme Court, are eloquent instances of the privilege that the private sector enjoys over public institutions.

The post-Covid world is witnessing a backlash to the once-unchallenged axioms of liberal economics. The liberalised policies have often achieved the contrary of what they once promised. They have resulted in illiberal practices, denying the citizens competitive prices. Illiberal oligarchies have only stymied competition. The State plays second fiddle to the rich and the privileged, obliterating the plight of the poor and the powerless. In the post-pandemic situation, the effective role played by public health infrastructure cannot be easily forgotten or ignored. The ever-widening economic disparity in our society makes it morally imperative to honestly introspect on the ethics and desirability of excessive dependence on the private sector and the endemic distrust of public services.

While the ethics of 'freebies' may continue to grab national attention (more for political reasons rather than economic or ethical), the reluctance and indifference of elected governments to directly provide relief and support to those citizens ravaged by the external shock of the pandemic needs to be widely discussed on moral grounds. How can the whole regime of tax collection be legitimised when a government considers financial help to mitigate suffering and deprivation of citizens as "wasteful expenditure"?

The great poet Kalidas has brilliantly compared an ideal ruler with the Sun. The latter collects water vapour from the surface of water bodies, just like a king would collect taxes. And just as people are then bestowed with abundant rain, so would a king give back to his people in the form of compassionate governance. Taking away the vapour comes with the responsibility of providing rain. Similarly, taxing people comes with the responsibility of giving back to them. No, it is not gratis and not a freebie. It is a right—a moral imperative. Let the billionaires flourish but not while the poor perish.

Brave Plachimada people

This is with reference to the column, The Plachimada Story (Sept 15). It is heartwarming to read this column. The people of Plachimada fought Coca-Cola for their rights. They cared about their environment and united for a good cause. They took the matter to court and legally shut down the MNC plant. This just enhances our trust in justice and the Constitution. Kudos!

Defectors power-hungry

The Goa defectors who took oaths of office are nothing but power-hungry. Lobo and Kamat say God gave them clearance to join the BJP. These defectors just couldn't wait for a legitimate chance until the next election and took this hasty decision to grab power.

Defection weakens democracy

The defection of eight Congress MLAs to BJP in Goa is a mockery of democracy and a negation of the people's mandate. The ineffectiveness of our anti-defection laws only goes to show how weak our democracy is. If this is the state of Indian politics, God save this country!

12 more groups in ST list

The Centre giving its approval to add 12 communities to the ST list is a welcome decision. Out of this, Narikuruvans and Kuruvikarans are from Tamil Nadu. This will definitely improve their living conditions and eventually uplift the downtrodden. We are grateful that the Union and state governments took this decision.

Raja on Manusmriti

It is shocking to learn from a speech made by Lok Sabha member A Raja that according to the Manusmriti, "You are the son of a prostitute till you remain a Shudra." He added that the Manusmriti denied Shudras the freedom to get educated, employed and enter temples. If the BJP really stands for Hindus like it says, shouldn't it condemn the text instead of taking a shot at Raja?

ECI and hate speech

This is with reference to the column, No definition, can't bar parties for hate speech: ECI (Sept 15). Much to the common man's disillusionment and frustration, the Election Commission has told the SC it doesn't have the legal power to de-recognise parties or de-register candidates for 'hate speech'. But there's nothing that prevents citizens from voting out candidates and parties who have made hate speech a national hobby to win votes from an electorate divided along religious lines.

SCO: Modi to hold talks with Russia, Iran, Uzbekistan

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

PM Narendra Modi will hold bilateral talks with Russia, Iran and Uzbekistan on the sidelines of the SCO Summit in Samarkand on Friday. He was received by his Uzbekistan counterpart Abdulla Aripov at Samarkand on Thursday night.

"India will have bilateral talks with Russia, Iran and Uzbekistan after the Summit meeting gets over on Friday," according to sources.

This newspaper was the first to report about the bilateral talks on the sidelines of the Summit on September 12.

"I will be visiting Samarkand at the invitation of President of Uzbekistan, Shavkat Mirziyoyev, to attend the Meeting of the Council of Heads of State of the Shanghai Cooperation Organization," the PM said before he left for Samarkand.

During the summit, Modi will exchange views on topical, regional and international issues, expansion of SCO and deepening of multifaceted and mutually beneficial cooperation within the organisation.

"Under the Uzbek chairmanship, a number of decisions for mutual cooperation is likely to be adopted in areas of trade, economy, culture and tourism," Modi said.

The SCO, set up in 2001, is a regional multilateral organisation that has eight member states – India, Russia, Iran, China, Kazakhstan, Kygyzstan, Tajikstan and Uzbekistan.

"India became a full member of SCO in 2017 and PM Modi has been leading the Indian delegation to the SCO Summit every year since then. After two years in virtual format due to the outbreak of the pandemic, the summit will be in person," said Foreign Secretary Vinay Kwatra, who is a part of the delegation, along with other officials.

The summit will have two sessions – the first one will be restricted to SCO members and the second will include participation of observers (Iran, Mongolia, Belarus) and special guests, which includes Saudi Arabia, Turkmenistan, Turkey and Armenia. Regional organisations like ASEAN, Director SCO RATS (Regional Anti Terrorist Structure) will be a part of it.

Russian President Vladimir Putin had bilateral talks with Chinese Premier Xi Jingping and Pakistan's PM Shehbaaz Sharif in Samarkand on Thursday. Putin backed Beijing's "One China" policy and opposed "provocations by the US in Taiwan Strait".

"We highly value the balanced position of our Chinese friends when it comes to the Ukraine crisis," Putin said.

Today's engagements

When the Summit begins on Friday, there will be many bilaterals that are expected to take place between India and other members. India has confirmed a bilateral with Uzbekistan, while Russia has confirmed a bilateral between PM Modi and Putin. The other likely bilateral that India could be with Iranian President Ebrahim Raisi.

Nitish pledges special status to backward states

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

AMID speculations of attempting, albeit indirectly, to get projected as the Opposition's face for Prime Minister, Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar on Thursday promised special category status, which he has been demanding for his state, to "all backward states" in the country if an united opposition comes to power in 2024 Lok Sabha polls.

Kumar's grand promise comes at a time when the entire Opposition is attempting to put up a united front against the BJP for the 2024 national general election. Nitish himself had toured Delhi recently and met all prominent Opposition leaders.

"If we get a chance to form a non-BJP government in 2024, we will certainly try to give special status not only to Bihar but all backwards states. There is no reason why it can't happen," Nitish Kumar told the media. Nitish, who is attending a function in Patna, made the remark in a response to a question from journalists.

At present, there are only 11 states namely in the country, namely Arunachal Pradesh, Assam, Himachal Pradesh, Jammu and Kashmir (UT), Manipur, Meghalaya, Mizoram, Nagaland, Sikkim, Tripura and Uttarakhand which have been placed under special category for their all-round development.

"By dropping such a political bombshell, Nitish Kumar, who is said to be in the race for Prime Minister in the 2024 Lok Sabha polls, has tried to set an agenda for the Opposition.

There are more than 10 states, apart from 11 others, which are under special category, which need to be given special status and Kumar's statement will certainly appease the people in these states, like Bihar, Jharkhand, Odisha and others," remarked Arun K Pandey, Patna-based political analyst.

NO RIFT IN BENCH OVER LISTING OF CASES: CJI

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

EVEN as a bench led by Justice SK Kaul passed a judicial order saying that the new system of listing is not giving an adequate time to take up matters, CJI UU Lalit on Thursday said that all the judges are completely on the same page.

Dismissing reports of rift between the judges with regards to the new system of listing, CJI while speaking at the felicitation function organised by the SCBA said that whatever has been reported is not the correct state of affairs. "We've taken this new way/style of listing. There are teething problems. Whatever has been reported is not the correct state of affairs. We all judges are completely on the same page," Lalit said.

After taking over as the 49th CJI, Lalit for more effective dispensation of justice had changed the system of listing. As per the new system of listing, judges on non miscellaneous days (NMD's) Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in a combination of three firstly take up old cases in the morning session and then take up fresh cases post lunch in a combination of two.

However, terming the new system of listing as giving "inadequate time" to take up matters, a bench of Justices SK Kaul and AS Oka while adjourning a case Nagesh Chaudhary v State of UP & Ors in their order on Tuesday had said, "The new listing system is not giving an adequate time to take up matters fixed for hearing like the present case as there are number of matters within the span of "Afternoon" session."

'K'taka HC judgment disrespectful of minorities'

RESPONDING to the judges' question as to whether the TCs were taken after completion of class, Sibal said they were taken before completion of class. "Look at the national impact of upholding such an order. It can be very disturbing and it also allows invasion into rights of persons who are protected under the Constitution," Sibal argued. He also said that the consequence is depriving young girls of their fundamental right of access to education, privacy and dignity. Sibal also said that there was no "compelling need" for the state government to pass the GO. Referring to some students wearing orange shawls to protest against hijab, the bench said, "Some other students started wearing gamcha and other things. That's why they passed the order."

"Preserving the composite nature of our culture is a fundamental duty. It's their fundamental duty to allow us to wear it. They can't object. Who are they to object? They have no right to object. They tried to create an environment in which the state takes action. Individuals on the roadside cannot say you don't wear a hijab. Where is the question of saying that in school," Sibal responded.

The Karnataka High Court's judgement is not respectful of the minority community, Senior Advocate Colin Gonsalves told the court. He also said that the judges and courts must ask that if the turban is allowed, why not hijab. Apart from the Constitutional protection 75 years ago, what is the difference between a turban and a hijab? Women feel about hijab with the same intensity and religiosity as a Sikh boy feels about the turban.

Senior Advocate Jayana Kothari submitted that the ban only affected Muslim girls wearing hijab and that promoted intersectional discrimination.

"Across various countries, most people who practice Islam recognise wearing of hijab as part of their religious and cultural practice. When a large number of courts and a large segment of the population across the world recognise hijab as part of religious and cultural practice, who are we to reinvent the world and say it's not an essential practice. We are part of a global village and we don't live in isolation," Senior Advocate Meenakshi Arora submitted.

Emphasising the fact that there is no concept of barter of fundamental rights, Advocate Shoeb Alam said the GO was an executive order and if the government wanted to restrict hijab, it could only be done by way of law.

Response failure led to Covid deaths: Lancet

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

MASSIVE multiple-level global failure in responding to Covid-19 led to millions of preventable deaths, says a Lancet Covid-19 Commission report criticising slow and cautious reactions by the governments and even the World Health Organization (WHO) for not warning about the human transmissibility of the virus in time. The Commission said even the 17.7 million worldwide Covid death numbers are underestimated.

"This staggering death toll is both a profound tragedy and a massive global failure at multiple levels," said the Lancet Commission, led by Professor Jeffrey Sachs, Professor at Columbia University (USA) and President of the Sustainable Development Solutions Network.

The Commission, which critically evaluated the global response in the first two years of the biggest health crisis, noted that the international multilateral system could not deal with a modern pandemic.

The Commission cited widespread prevention failures, problems maintaining transparency, rational decisions, essential public health practice, operational cooperation and international solidarity.

"Too many governments have failed to adhere to basic norms of institutional rationality and transparency, too many people - often influenced by misinformation - have disrespected and protested against basic public health precautions, and the world's major powers have failed to collaborate to control the pandemic," the report said.

Commenting on the role of the WHO, the Commission said that the world health body "acted too cautiously and too slowly on several important matters", which included a warning about the "human transmissibility of the virus" to "declare a Public Health Emergency of International Concern, to support international travel protocols designed to slow the spread of the virus."

Peace talks stuck over autonomy to Naga areas, says former interlocutor

CHANDAN NANDY @New Delhi

THE Union government's former interlocutor R S Pandey, a former Nagaland chief secretary, has said that the Naga peace talks are stuck in the final stage over the issue of autonomy in the Naga-inhabited areas of Manipur and Arunachal Pradesh.

He said that the issues of NSCN(IM)'s Yehzabo or constitution and flag are also not fully resolved, but there has been a movement forward on this front. The government and Naga interlocutors have, reportedly, found some middle ground on the issue of flag and the constitution.

Pandey told TNIE "the continued wrangling over the three contentious issues is the result of the inclusion of a sweeping expression — "dialogue between the Government of India and the NSCN has successfully concluded" — in the August 2015 mutually agreed upon Framework Agreement,

The former government interlocutor for the Naga peace process, who held talks with the NSCN(IM) between 2011 and 2013, said "we made the NSCN(M) leadership, including General Secretary Thuingaleng Muivah and President Isak Chishi Swu, understand our difficulties in changing state boundaries. While the twin issues of the constitution and the flag was almost settled, we were worried whether a regional council for the Naga-inhabited areas in Manipur and Arunachal Pradesh or district councils would be acceptable,"

The government was prepared to "give safeguards to the district councils and to suitably empower them", Pandey recalled, adding that a "stalemate on this point" occurred when the then Manipur CM Ibobi Singh put his foot down. "We had even proposed an autonomous body or a development zone for the Naga-inhabited areas in the two states," he said.

The issue of amending the Constitution to incorporate the 'Naga Yehzabo' in a "separate chapter or schedule" was disalso cussed, he added.

Sisters raped, killed in UP; 6 held

Autopsy confirms rape; cause of the death was asphyxiation due to strangulation

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

CRACKING the alleged rape and double-murder case of two minor sisters belonging to Scheduled Caste (SC) under Nighasan police station area of Lakhimpur Kheri, the district police arrested six accused on Thursday morning.

The minor sisters, aged 17 and 15 years, were found hanging from a tree in a sugarcane field in village Tamolinpurwa in Nighasan area of Kheri late on Wednesday evening. The girls were studying in class 10th and class 8th.

The victim's autopsy carried out by a panel of three doctors in the presence of victims' family, confirmed the rape of both the minor sisters. According to police sources, as per the autopsy report, the cause of the death was asphyxiation due to strangulation. The viscera of the victims have also been preserved for further investigation, said the police authorities.

While addressing the media, Lakhimpur Kheri SP Sanjiv Suman said that one local villager, identified as Chhotu Gautam, and five youths – Junaid, Sohail, Hafizur Rehman, Kareemuddin and Arif–of neighbouring Lalpur village were arrested in the case.

Suman said that Junaid and Sohail had admitted to rape and murder of the two girls during the primary interrogation. Meanwhile, a day after the incident, the father of the victims sought justice. "The culprits should be hanged," he said on Thursday. "My daughters were kidnapped, raped, and killed. I want justice, and the perpetrators should be executed," said the father.

Congress workers take out a candlelight march to protest against the alleged rape and murder of two minor sisters in Lakhimpur Kheri, in Prayagraj, Thursday | PTI

The victims' family put forth three demands before performing the last rites. According to Lakhimpur Kheri DM Mahendra Bahadur Singh, the father of the victims demanded a compensation of ₹1 crore, a house under PM housing scheme and government job to his elder son besides the execution of all the culprits. The DM said that all the demands of the aggrieved family were conveyed to the state government. However, later in the evening, the family agreed to cremate the bodies after the district administration and police authorities pacified the wailing family assuring them financial help and legal proceedings in fast-track court.

Earlier, narrating the sequence of incident, the police official said that as per the primary interrogation of the accused, Sohail and Junaid raped and murdered the girls while Chhotu acted as the facilitator who introduced the girls to Sohail and Junaid. The police added that the girls were in a relationship with Junaid and Sohail. The remaining three accused — Hafizur Rehaman, Kareemuddin and Arif— helped the other two in hanging the bodies from the tree with the help of the girls' dupatta to project it as a case of suicide. The SP claimed that Junaid was arrested after being shot in the right leg in retaliatory firing during a police encounter.

Suman said that the primary investigation had pointed to the fact that Sohail and Junaid lured the girls and took them to a sugarcane field and raped them. As the girls' demanded both the culprits to marry them, the accused refused but the victims remained adamant on their demand. As a result, the accused killed them by strangling them with their dupattas. They called Hafizur Rehaman, Kareemuddin and Arif, who helped the duo in hanging the bodies from tree.

Our sons innocent, claim mothers of accused

The mothers of Sohail, Hafizur Rehman, Kareemuddin and Junaid – all migrant workers in Hyderabad and Ahmedabad – claimed that the boys had gone to procure ration at the time of the incident. They said that had they been involved in the crime, they would have escaped instead of returning home.

MP: 15 missing officials for 15 years still drawing salary

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

Believe it or not, but at least 15 employees of the commercial tax department of Madhya Pradesh have mysteriously disappeared between 2005 and 2021.

In a reply to a question by ruling BJP MLA Yashpal Singh Sisodiya during the monsoon session of the Vidhan Sabha (that was adjourned sine die on Thursday two days before its stipulated end), the state's cabinet minister for finance and commercial taxes Jagdish Devdainformed that 15 employees of the commercial tax department have been untraceable/are unduly absent from work between 2005 and 2021.

> The most surprising reply given by the government is that neither a public information about the missing or unduly absent employees has been reported nor any cases have been registered

These untraceable employees have been posted in state capital Bhopal, state's commercial capital Indore and other districts, including Neemuch, Rajgarh, Mandla, Chhindwara, Narmadapuram, Sagar and Jabalpur.Among them, an office assistant posted at the office of commercial tax commissioner in Jabalpur has been unduly absent from duty/untraceable since November 2005, while an Assistant Grade-III posted at the commercial tax commissioner in Indore is the latest one, who isuntraceable since July 21, 2021.

Speaking at the inaugural session, Chief Guest Meenakshi Lekhi, MoS for External Affairs, said, "Brahma Kumaris is a shining example of feminine power where women are establishing right values in society through their spiritual powers." The six sessions of the summit saw over 50 eminent personalities from India and abroad sharing ideas on how to promote global peace and harmony. LS Speaker at Gujjar programme sparks row

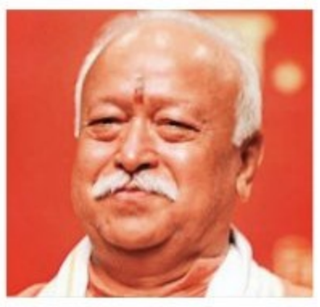
In Rajasthan, the tussle over Gujjar votes has intensified after many BJP and Congress leaders attended the bone immersion of Colonel Kirori Singh Bainsla, who led the Gujjar agitation for reservations in the state. Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla's presence at this program was especially noted in political corridors. Sources say Birla is eyeing the large Gujjar vote in his parliamentary seat of Kota. But as his equations are strained with the Gujjar strongman Prahlad Gunjal, Birla is cultivating the Gujjars through Vijay Bainsla, the son and inheritor of Col Bainsla's political legacy. Experts believe that Om Birla is an aspirant for the CM chair.

Gehlot plays Kabbadi at Rural Olympics

The Gehlot government is holding a 'Rural Olympics' in over 40,000 villages of Rajasthan to promote a sports culture in the state. Critics say this is an attempt to woo youth votes. The games was flagged off by CM Gehlot. Interestingly, CM Gehlot was on the ground during a kabbadi match at Udaipur and even in Jodhpur. Known as the magician of Rajasthan politics, Gehlot's speech has triggered another round of buzz over the Congress Presidential elections. Adding fuel to gossip mills, CM Gehlot said, "wherever I go, Rajasthan will always remain in my heart." The answer to the question of his possible move to Delhi still remains a mystery.

Mohan Bhagwat quotes Gandhi, says West looks at Indian philosophy

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@Ahmedabad



RASHTRIYA Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) chief Mohan Bhagwat on Thursday praised and quoted Mahatma Gandhi, while also asking the judiciary to amend the judicial process in accordance with the ancient Indian texts.

Delivering a keynote address at an event organised by RSS' sister outfit, Bharatiya Vichar Manch, in Ahmedabad, Bhagwat said, "It is important that questions are often raised about the Sangh and Mahatma Gandhi. Some time ago, the recitation of anti-Gandhi poetry in Rajkot created a controversy."

Bhagwat said that keeping in mind the time and place, if revisions are brought in across public systems in the light of Indian values, then a timely change will usher in. "Even Gandhiji said that there is enough for everyone's need but not enough for everyone's greed," he said, adding that one has to suffer the ill-effects of greed.

Maintaining that principles never change but the "code" can change, he suggested that efforts should be made to enhance religiosity through study of works of thinkers.

"We should study the texts of Swami Vivekananda, Gandhiji, Rabindranath, and other great personalities and then try to promote religion. The government system is also now changing due to this. New ideas and dimensions are gaining ground, which is welcome," he stated.

Bhagwat pointed out that whenever any country loses its direction in terms of knowledge, it looks at Indian philosophy. "Our ancient texts of knowledge and smritis are eternal," he said, adding that we need to move after understanding our own selves. "Even top judges have appealed to make necessary changes in the judicial process on that basis," he said.

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@Ahmedabad

FORMER home minister of state and ex-chairman of Mehsana District Cooperative Producers Union Ltd (Dudhsagar Dairy) Vipul Chaudhary was arrested by the Gujarat Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) in a case of alleged financial irregularities worth over ₹ 750 crore. He was arrested from his Gandhinagar residence on Wednesday Night.

Vipul Chaudhary, along with his supporters, was running a campaign for the Dudhsagar dairy in upcoming elections. Chaudhary, a prominent face of Gujarat's cooperative sector, was home minister in the Shankarsinh Vaghela government in 1996. Chaudhary is also a BJP leader.

ACB Joint Director Makarand Chauhan said that Vipul Chaudhary's tenure was from 2005 to 2016. During this tenure, Vipul Chaudhary has committed more than ₹750 crore of different scams.

"During his tenure, he procured milk coolers, violating government guidelines and tender conditions, and committed irregularities in procurement. He did construction work worth ₹485 crore, violating the SOP for construction. He filed a revision petition against the deputy secretary for which the lawyer's expenses were also borrowed from the Milk Producers' Union," he said.

"Apart from this, 31 companies were formed for the amount collected from the scam. These 31 companies were registered on the basis of false documents. His wife and son were also directors in this company," said ACB. "The district registrar obtained the order of the high court in this whole matter, after which two teams were formed to investigate the case. Both teams recorded 14 points each in this investigation. These 14 issues were handed over to vigilance officer. The vigilance officer found malpractices.," ACB officials said on Thursday

In May, a complaint was filed against Chaudhary and his personal secretary for siphoning off dairy& money with ACB Mehsana branch. A case was then registered for criminal breach of trust, cheating, forgery, ACB said in a statement.

HC relief for Daler Mehndi in human-trafficking case

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE Punjab and Haryana High court on Thursday suspended the two-year jail term of Punjabi pop singer Daler Mehndi in the 2003 human trafficking case.

The single bench of Justice G S Gill suspended the sentence of Mehndi who was sentenced to a two-year jail in the human trafficking case.

Arshdeep Singh Cheema, lawyer of the singer said,₹₹ His sentence has been suspended, which means that he will be out on bail, pending proceedings before the high court."

On July 20, Mehndi had approached the Punjab and Haryana High court awarded in March 2018, in the 2003 human trafficking case. After the Patiala district and sessions district court upheld the two-year jail term. The additional district sessions judge had dismissed Mehndi's appeal on July 14 and thus he was taken into custody and was lodged in Patiala central jail. A Patiala court in March 2018 had sentenced Mehndi to two years in jail in the human trafficking case. Mehndi was then released on bail.He was held guilty on charges of cheating and conspiracy. In 2018 the trial court had convicted and sentenced him to two years' imprisonment and imposed a fine of Rs 2,000.

The Patiala Police had booked Daler Mehndi and his brother Shamsher Mehndi, who died in 2017, on a complaint filed by one Bakshish Singh who had alleged that the singer had taken money for taking him to Canada. Also some 35 more complaints levelled charges of fraud against the brothers also came up later. The complainants had alleged that the brothers had taken 'passage money' from them to help them migrate to the United States illegally, but failed to do so. It was also alleged that the Mehndi brothers took two troupes in 1998 and 1999 during the course of which 10 persons were taken to the US as group members and "dropped off" illegally.

Office of profit case: Soren meets governor

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

A day after the Cabinet passed two much-awaited proposals related to the domicile policy and 27 per cent reservation to OBC, Jharkhand Chief Minister Hemant Soren on Thursday met Governor Ramesh Bais at Raj Bhawan in Ranchi, seeking a copy of the letter sent by the Election Commission in the office of profit case against him. Soren also sought a chance to present his points across.

In a memorandum submitted to Bais, Soren stated that the BJP is trying to use the current environment of uncertainty as a weapon to grab power in an unethical way. He added that his government has two-third majority in the Assembly, and also won the trust vote in the Assembly on Sept 5.

"Being the Constitutional head of the state, it is expected that you play an important role in the protection of Constitution and democracy. As an elected head of a democratically-elected government, I am committed to adhere to the Constitution and rule of law," stated Soren, adding, "Therefore, I request you to provide me a copy of the opinion sent by Election Commission in office of profit case against me and give me an opportunity to put my points so that the environment of uncertainly could be put to an end in this state."

Uncertainty over the Soren-led government in Jharkhand arose after the Election Commission apparently sent a report recommending his disqualification over allegations that he allocated a mining lease to himself while holding the portfolio of mines in 2021.

No entry: J'khand village bans Bihar 'drunkards'

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

Turns out, it's not just nations that take border security seriously. A village in Jharkhand has taken upon itself to guard every entry point in a bid to prevent unknown and unwanted outsiders from sneaking into their area.

The residents of Asna Koni village under Kataiyya panchayat in Kodarma district, which is situated cheek by jowl to Bihar, are mostly watched by women carrying traditional arms. The villagers decided to take the step after being incessantly troubled by visitors venturing in from the neighbouring state in search of alcohol, and creating a ruckus in the area.

"Regular altercations and incidents of eve-teasing had become a regular affair in this village, since hundreds of people would enter our village from Bihar to consume liquor," a local farmer, Tunnu Rajvanshi, said. "So we called a panchayat and decided to not let anyone enter the village for taking liquor here." Since women were the worst affected by such incidents, they readily accepted to support the initiative, he added.

Dulri Devi, 45, is happy that the problem has been solved as of now. "Whenever we see any outsider coming towards the village; we stop them saying that they will not get liquor here anymore," she said, adding that they are now living peacefully. According to Dulri Devi, noon to midnight is the most crucial time when they have to remain alert.

The village earlier always remained crowded with people looking to buy liquor. Though the problem began after liquor was banned in Bihar, the situation worsened over time.

The decision to guard the entry points was taken a week ago. "A joint decision was taken unanimously by the villagers. Several groups of villagers, mostly women, roam around the village to keep a watch," said the officer in charge of Satgawan Police Station, Uttam Baidya.

He added that the village women have also cracked down on the villagers who were involved in selling alcohol.

Women lead initiative to keep eye on alcohol sale

The village earlier always remained crowded with people looking to buy liquor. Though the problem began after liquor was banned in Bihar, the situation worsened over time. The decision to guard the entry points was taken a week ago. the village women have also cracked down on the villagers who were involved in selling alcohol.

"Whenever they come across anybody carrying liquor into the village, they destroy it. So sale of liquor has been stopped," said Baidya. They are also getting police support, he added.

A local NGO has also pitched in.

"Villagers have started socially boycotting those found involved in liquor sale. This has started giving positive results," Manoj Dangi, secretary, Rashtriya Jharkhand Seva Sansthan, said. Several breweries have also been destroyed by the police to support the initiative.

Xi shared concern on Ukraine war in meet, says Putin

Seen as clearest indication yet of Beijing's growing exasperation over a stalemated conflict

Xi Jinping

Vladimir Putin

SAMARKAND

IN what is seen as the first sign of China's exasperation over Russia's Ukraine war, Chinese President Xi Jinping on Thursday raised "questions and concerns" over the conflict in his meeting here with Russian President Vladimir Putin who thanked Beijing for its "balanced position" on the crisis.

This is perhaps for the first time in over six months of Russia's Ukraine war, China, which remained a steadfast ally of Moscow and declined to condemn the invasion, aired its concerns over Putin's move.

"We highly value the balanced position of our Chinese friends when it comes to the Ukraine crisis," Putin said in his opening remarks at the meeting.

"We understand your questions and concerns about this. During today's meeting, we will of course explain our position," he was quoted as saying by the Hong Kong based South China Morning Post.

According to Chinese state media, Xi said China is ready to work with Russia in "extending strong support to each other on issues concerning their respective core interests," and to deepen cooperation in "trade, agriculture and interconnectivity."

Xi also said the two countries should make greater efforts to take responsibility in a "chaotic, interweaving world."

Putin said the Russian-Chinese international cooperation can be considered a paragon. "The foreign policy tandem of Moscow and Beijing plays a key role in ensuring global and regional stability," he was quoted as saying by Russia's state-owned Tass news agency.

"The world is changing rapidly, but one thing remains unchanged: the friendship between China and Russia, our good — in the full sense of this world — relations of comprehensive strategic partnership, and we continue to strengthen these relations," he said.

"Dear President Putin, my dear and long-time friend, I am very pleased to meet again," Xi said in his remarks.

China is ready to work with Russia in extending strong support to each other on issues concerning their respective core interests, Xi said, according to state-run Xinhua news agency. Agencies

Lanka neutral in Indian Ocean turf war, says Ranil

COLOMBO

SRI Lanka will not take part in any "big power rivalry" in the Indian Ocean and it is unfortunate that his country has been made the "punching bag" for Hambantota, President Ranil Wickremesinghe has said, weeks after India and China clashed over the docking of a high-tech Chinese ship at the country's southern port.

Wickremesinghe said the Indian Ocean region needs to be open to all to ensure freedom of navigation. "That is important for commerce to carry on. We have to remember that the bulk of the petroleum supply and energy supply to the world goes through the Indian Ocean. A large amount of shipping goes through the Indian Ocean. We don't want this to be an area of conflict and an area of war," he said in his speech made at the National Defense College on Wednesday.

Sri Lanka will not participate in military alliances and does not want the problems of the Pacific coming into the Indian Ocean, he said while speaking on the crisis-hit country's position on the geopolitical stage. "We don't participate in a military alliance, and we certainly do not want the problems of the Pacific coming to the Indian Ocean. We don't want this to be an area of conflict and an area of war. Sri Lanka will not take part in any big power rivalry," Wickremesinghe said.

Ranil Wickremesinghe

His remarks came weeks after the Chinese embassy and the Indian High Commission here clashed verbally over the docking of the Chinese ship 'Yuan Wang 5' at Sri Lanka's southern Hambantota port for replenishment.

"When it comes to the security of Sri Lanka, we are of the view that in looking after the security of Sri Lanka, we must also ensure that nothing adverse happens to the security of India. That we have been committed to, and we will go ahead with it. There will be no movement out of it," Wickremesinghe said.

Meanwhile, India has emerged as the top lender to Sri Lanka in 2022, disbursing $377 million in loans to the island nation, according to the Verite Research think-tank.

The Asian Development Bank follows India with $360 million in loans. They account for 76 per cent of total disbursements from January to April 2022. Lanka's economy shrank 8.4 percent year-on-year in the second quarter, official data showed Thursday, as the island nation's unprecedented financial crisis reached its peak.

Flood risk in central Ukraine as dam hit by Russian missiles

KYIV

FLOODS could hit the city of Kryvyi Rih in central Ukraine after Russian troops fired seven missiles at the dam of the reservoir close to Zelenskyy's birthplace, Kryvyi Rih.

The damage flooded more than 100 homes as efforts were underway to contain more spillage.

The head of Kryvyi Rih, Oleksandr Vilkul, said on Thursday that officials blew up two dams to help the river flow and added levels had begun to subside. Authorities continue their search and rescue efforts. He didn't immediately elaborate.

The attack so close to his roots angered Zelenskyy, who said the strikes had no military value.

"In fact, hitting hundreds of thousands of ordinary civilians is another reason why Russia will lose," he said in his nightly address late on Wednesday. The presidential office said that Russian shelling of seven Ukrainian regions over the past 24 hours killed at least two civilians and wounded 14.

"At the point of impact, we have observed a water flow of 100 cubic metres per second, which is a large volume," said Kyrylo Tymoshenko, deputy head of the president's office. "The water level of the Inhulets River is changing every hour," he added.

The centre and another district of the city of 6,00,000 people were "at risk of flooding", he said. "It is a challenge for us all, but the situation is under control. All services are involved to eliminate the threat as quickly as possible," he said via Telegram.

Kryvyi Rih is President Volodymyr Zelensky's hometown. Earlier, Zelensky said a Russian strike targeted infrastructure in an "attempt to flood" the city, with no casualties.

Despite the renewed Ukrainian vigour on the battlefield and the first rumblings of criticism at home, Putin is staying steadfast with his determination to fully subdue Ukraine, German Chancellor Olaf Scholz said. After a phone call with Putin, Scholz said that "unfortunately, I cannot tell you that the realisation has grown over there." AFP

Woman arrested over dead children in suitcases

South Korean police on Thursday arrested a woman accused of murdering her two children, whose remains were found in suitcases in New Zealand

WANTED IN NEW ZEALAND

The suspect is accused by the New Zealand police of having murdered her two children — aged seven and 10 at the time — in around 2018 in the Auckland area"

She's been found to have arrived in South Korea after the crime and has been in hiding ever since South Korea's National Police Agency said in a statement

SUITCASES WITH BODIES AUCTIONED OFF

The remains of the two children were discovered in August after an unsuspecting family bought a trailer-load of items — including the suitcases — at an auction for abandoned goods near Auckland, New Zealand's biggest city

New Zealand police have said the bodies were likely to have been in storage for several years, which has complicated the investigation

Authorities said teh family who found the bodies were not connected to the homicide, and were being given support to help deal with the trauma

42-year-old

Suspect is a South Korean-born New Zealand national — was arrested in the southeastern city of Ulsan and will be transferred to the capital Seoul to face extradition proceedings.

Pro-Khalistan groups blamed as Canada Hindu temple defaced

TORONTO

A prominent Hindu temple has been defaced by "Canadian Khalistani extremists" here with anti-India graffiti in an apparent hate crime, prompting the Indian mission here to condemn the incident and urge authorities to take swift action against the perpetrators.

The time of the incident at the BAPS Swaminarayan Mandir, Toronto is not yet known.

The Indian High Commission on Wednesday tweeted, "We strongly condemn defacing of BAPS Swaminarayan Mandir Toronto with anti-India graffiti. Have requested Canadian authorities to investigate the incident and take prompt action on perpetrators." Chandra Arya, Member of Parliament, Canada tweeted, "Vandalism of Toronto BAPS Shri Swaminarayan Mandir by Canadian Khalistani extremists should be condemned by all. This is not just an isolated event. Canadian Hindu temples have been targeted in the recent past by these kinds of hate crimes. Hindu Canadians are legitimately concerned.

Meanwhile, Brampton South Member of Parliament Sonia Sidhu expressed shock at the incident and tweeted, "I am distraught by the act of vandalism that has taken place at the #BAPSSwaminarayanMandir in Toronto."

"We live in a multicultural and multi-faith community where everyone deserves to feel safe," she tweeted. The BAPS Swaminarayan Sanstha is a spiritual, volunteer-driven faith dedicated to improving society by fostering the Hindu ideals of faith, unity, and selfless service. PTI

Even allies think of us as beggars, rues Pakistan PM

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif has presented a bleak picture of the country's dwindling economy, regretting that even friendly countries have started looking at Pakistan as one that was always begging for money.

"Today, when we go to any friendly country or make a phone call, they think that we have come [to them] to beg for money," Dawn news quoted the prime minister as saying in an address to a lawyers' convention on Wednesday.

Sharif said even small economies have surpassed Pakistan, "and we have been wandering for the past 75 years carrying a begging bowl".

According to Sharif, Pakistan's economy was facing a "challenging situation" even before the floods, which had made it more "complicated".

He said Pakistan was on the verge of "economic default" when he assumed power in April, following the ouster of then prime minister Imran Khan, and the coalition government had saved the country from default through its hard work.

Admitting that inflation was "at its peak" when he took charge, the premier indirectly blamed the previous Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) government for this situation in the country. PTI

2 busloads of migrants let off near Harris' home

Washington: Two buses of migrants from the US-Mexico border were dropped off near Vice President Kamala Harris' home in residential Washington on Thursday morning in the bitter political battle over the Biden administration's immigration policies. It wasn't immediately clear which Republican leader had sent them. Texas Governor Greg Abbott has been busing migrants out of Texas to cities with Democratic mayors as part of a political strategy this year because he claims there are too many arrivals over the border to his state. It was first dreamed up by former President Donald Trump. About two dozen men and women stood outside the US Naval Observatory at dawn, clutching clear plastic bags of their belongings brought with them over the border.

Top court rules against Toyota in tax bill case

Thailand's Supreme Court on Thursday dismissed a final appeal by the local subsidiary of car giant Toyota over a disputed $270 million import tax bill following a decade of legal wrangling. The case relates to Toyota Motor Thailand's importation of parts for its Prius model at a reduced tax rate between 2010 and 2012 under a Japan-Thailand trade agreement. Thai authorities said Toyota's imports were not included under that agreement and estimate the company owes roughly $270 million. While the country's Central Tax Court ruled in favour of Toyota in 2017, the decision was later overturned. On Thursday the Supreme court issued a final ruling against Toyota, stating the company was not eligible for the 30 per cent import duty reduction. In a statement issued on Thursday, Toyota Motor Thailand said it "respects the Supreme Court's ruling".

Billionaire gives away his $3 billion company to fight climate change

NEW YORK

THE founder of outdoor retailer Patagonia, known for his environmental stances, announced on Wednesday he has given away his company in an effort to do even more for the planet. Yvon Chouinard, 83, could have sold the brand — valued at $3 billion, according to The New York Times — or taken it public.

Instead, he, his wife and their two children agreed to transfer all of Patagonia's voting shares, or stock that gives the holder voting rights, in the company to a trust in charge of ensuring the brand's environmental values are respected.

All of Patagonia's nonvoting shares have been transferred to a nonprofit dedicated to fighting against climate change and for nature protection and conservation. Company profits will also be donated to the nonprofit.

Yvon Chouinard

"Earth is now our only shareholder," Chouinard wrote in an open letter posted to Patagonia's website. "I never wanted to be a businessman," he explained. "I started as a craftsman, making climbing gear for my friends and myself, then got into apparel." He added: "As we began to witness the extent of global warming and ecological destruction, and our own contribution to it, Patagonia committed to using our company to change the way business was done."

Patagonia will remain a company, which cares about its financial health and will operate with a board of directors and CEO. The Chouinard family will no longer get any money from the company.

Founded almost 50 years ago, Patagonia quickly became committed to conserving nature by carefully choosing its raw materials. AFP

Volcan to own Vedanta's semiconductor business

Bahamas-based firm is owned by Anil Agarwal's family trust

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

VEDANTA group on Thursday said its semiconductor business will not be part of Vedanta Ltd, but will be housed under Volcan Investments Limited, the holding company owned by Anil Agarwal's family trust.

The company is also the majority shareholder of London-based Vedanta Resources Plc, which has more than 50% stake in Vedanta India.

"We reiterate that the proposed business of manufacturing semiconductors is not under Vedanta Limited and we understand that it will be undertaken by the ultimate holding company of Vedanta Limited, Volcan Investments Limited," said the company in an exchange filing.

Earlier, Vedanta Group announced that it, along with Taiwanese chip maker Foxconn, would invest ₹1.54 lakh crore to set up a semiconductor and glass plant in Gujarat. Vedanta said the project will come over the next two year and would bring employment of around 1 Lakh to the state.

Ever since Vedanta announced the semiconductor project in Gujarat, there had been confusion, which company would take care of its semiconductor business.

As per Vedanta's press statement on September 13, Vedanta will hold 60% stake in the joint venture while Foxconn will own the balance 40%. But today the company clarified that its holding company Volcan Investments Limited will take care of its semiconductor business. Volcan Investment is incorporated in Bahamas. The company is wholly owned by Conclave PTC Limited, a private trust company, which is ultimately beneficially owned by Anil Agarwal Discretionary Trust.

Meanwhile, the company said it is also going to invest ₹25,000 crore for expansion of its aluminium, ferrochrome and mining businesses in Odisha. "So far, we have made the single-largest investment in Odisha (₹80,000 crore), and contribute to 4% of state's GDP...today, I am proud to announce that we have committed to new investments of more than ₹25,000 crore, furthering development and job creation in the state," said Anil Agarwal, chairman of Vedanta Group.

Are Byju's widening losses sign of trouble?

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

EDTECH major Byju's, which released its financial results for FY21 on Wednesday, is yet to make final payments for the billion-dollar tuition chain Aakash Educational Services deal. It has to pay nearly ₹2,000 crore to sellers by September 23.

Also, WhiteHat Jr, which offers coding classes to school kids, was acquired by Byju's in 2020 for nearly $300 million, and this company has contributed significant losses to Byju's in FY21. With lay offs and misleading advertising, WhiteHat Jr has been in many controversies.

The edtech major's consolidated loss in FY21 was above ₹4,550 crore, though the company said its acquisitions across companies have seen substantial growth, it is said not all is well with these companies. Byju's has acquired close to 20 companies including Osmo, EPiC, Tynker, WhiteHat Jr, Aakash, Great Learning, Gradeup and GeoGebra in recent times. Also, in FY21, during pandemic many edtech companies witnessed significant growth.

So, what exactly happened to Byju's?

With the way revenues of FY21 has been recognised being significantly different to reports of FY19-20, it is very difficult to decipher the 20x odd increase in Byju's losses, said Ganesh Mahadevan, Partner, Thinksynq.

"One way it's good that the auditors have insisted on the right revenue recognition starting 2020-21 and it augurs well for all the stakeholders in spite of the immediate pain. More than the problem in financial reporting at Byju's, the business model is shaky," he added. Angel investor Aniruddha Malpani said there are so many red flags. Byju's doesn't have a chief financial officer (CFO) for the last one year and the board members are shareholders.

"The very purpose of edtech was to disrupt classroom imparted education by going online and getting massive scale advantage through this. With opening up of their own coaching centres and buying out legacy coaching centres like Aakash, one is getting very confused about where Byju's is going," said Mahadevan.

Tata-owned Air India aims to increase domestic market share to 30% in 5 years

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

TATA GROUP-owned Air India aims to increase its market share to at least 30% in the domestic market and significantly grow in the international routes from the present market share over the next 5 years under its comprehensive transformation plan "Vihaan.AI".

According to DGCA data, Air India's market share stood at 8.4% in July 2022, which is nowhere near that of the country's biggest airline IndiGo (58.8%). The combined market share of all Tata Group operated airlines -- Air India, Vistara (10.4%) and AirAsia India (4.6%) – stood at 23.4% in July. While Tata Group has received Competition Commission of India nod to merge AirAsia India with Air India, there is no clarity whether Tata and Singapore Airlines would merge their airline Vistara with Air India in near future.

As part of Vihaan.AI, Air India will be growing its network and fleet, developing a completely revamped customer proposition, improving reliability and on-time performance, and taking a leadership position in technology, sustainability, and innovation, while 'aggressively' investing behind the best industry talent. The plan is aimed at putting Air India on a path to sustained growth, profitability and market leadership, the airline said in a statement.

Till last year when Air India was a state-run carrier, the airline used to report about ₹10,000 crore q year and financially was in a dilapidated state. It had become such a burden for the Centre that it had only two options: sell it and ground it. The government's privatisation effort this time, after a failed attempt in 2018, attracted the Tatas, who had originally founded the airline in 1930s before it was nationalised in 1950s, to once again own the airline.

Commenting on Vihaan.AI, Campbell Wilson, MD and CEO of Air India, said, "The transformation has already started -- a slew of initiatives in areas like refurbishing cabins, serviceable seats, in-flight entertainment system are already underway."

Fitch cuts FY23 India GDP growth forecast to 7% from 7.8%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

FITCH RATINGS has cut the GDP growth outlook of India to 7% from 7.8% for FY23 in view of global economic slowdown, elevated inflation and tighter monetary policy.

It has also trimmed its forecast for FY24 to 6.7% as compared with 7.4% earlier.

"Compared to our June GEO forecasts we now expect the economy to grow 7% in the financial year to end-March 2023 (FY23) from 7.8% previously, with FY24 also slowing to 6.7% from 7.4% before," said Fitch Ratings.

The Reserve Bank of India has already front-loaded its policy rate rises, tightening by a total of 140bp since the start of 2022 to 5.4% in August, it stated. It expects the RBI to continue raising, to 5.9% before year-end. "The RBI remains focused on reducing inflation, but said that its decisions would continue to be "calibrated, measured and nimble" and dependent on the unfolding dynamics of inflation and economic activity. We therefore expect policy rates to peak the near future and to remain at 6% throughout next year," the global rating agency added. Meanwhile, it expects world GDP to grow by 2.4% in 2022 – revised down by 0.5pp – and by just 1.7% in 2023, cut by 1.0pp. "The eurozone and UK are now expected to enter recession later this year and the US is expected to suffer a mild recession in mid-2023," it added.

Government developing new index to track logistics cost in India

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

EVEN as the government is preparing to unveil the National Logistics Policy on September 17, the Ministry of Commerce and Industry plans to develop a domestic index to track the logistics cost.

Sources in the ministry said it is a part of the larger policy of the government to develop a local framework to assess the logistics cost in India, as the one available currently is not providing correct picture.

The logistics costs that the policy makers are currently following are being measured by an international agency, and according to it, in India the logistics cost is 13-14% of the GDP.

The new logistics policy aims to bring this cost to 8% of the GDP by 2030.

"We believe the logistics cost is lower than the often quoted figure of 13%, and we believe we need to have a local system to measure the same to correctly reflect the cost incurred by logistics and transport. The current system is very 'impressionist'," said a commerce ministry official.

The same official said it is unfair to compare logistics cost of a large country like India or the US with those of smaller countries.

"Large countries and countries with bigger agriculture and manufacturing component in GDP will invariably have higher logistics cost," he said.

According to the last World Bank Logistics Performance Index published in 2018, India was ranked 44th in terms of logistics performance.

The new logistics policy envisages creating a Unique Logistics Interface Platform to integrate the existing 30 digital platforms developed across different ministries so as to enable real-time information to all stakeholders.

It also plans standardisation of physical assets -- like size of containers, trucks, etc-- better engagement with states, development of logistics parks, etc. The whole policy is part of the PM Gatishakti plan launched last year.

JSW Paints may move NCLAT against Asian Paints

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

AMID growing tussle between new entrant in the decorative paints market JSW Paints, and the market leader Asian Paints, the former, dissatisfied with a Competition Commission of India (CCI) order against its complaint, is likely to approach the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) against the latter.

JSW Paints alleges that Asian Paints uses its dominant position to hamper its entry into the market. AS Sundaresan, joint MD & CEO of JSW Paints, said, "We don't agree with the Commission's order that Asian Paints hasn't abused its dominant position." He added that they are currently reviewing the order and will take appropriate steps to protect interests of our customers and dealers for a free and fair market." JSW Paints, which entered the decorative paints market in 2020, had alleged that Asian Paints began targeting dealers who had agreed to stock and display their decorative paints. JSW stated that they were planning to launch their products in South and West India. However, they had been denied access to the market even in these states and faced the same resistance in other regions due to coercive action taken by Asian Paints against the dealers. It also said Asian Paints had reduced the credit limit and tier of dealers following their dealings with JSW Paints. Following this, a probe was ordered by the anti-trust regulator in 2020 after the complaint filed by JSW Paints. After a lengthy probe, CCI in its September 8 order said no prima facie case of contravention of the provisions of either section-3 or -4 of the Competition Act is made out against Asian Paints. Accordingly, the fair trade regulator disposed of the complaint filed by JSW Paints.

According to a source familiar with the development, the Jindal firm is gearing up to move NCLAT against Asian Paints.

Will the Merge make Ethereum more secure?

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

THE biggest software upgrade in the crypto world - the Merge - has been completed.

The second-largest cryptocurrency Ethereum has undergone the technical upgrade, which can reduce its energy usage, and the upgrade is called the 'Merge'.

The upgrade is said to be crucial as it cuts down over 99% of energy consumption. This has been in talks for many years now, and finally on Thursday Ethereum was transitioned from proof-of-work (PoW) consensus method of setting transactions to proof-of-stake (PoS).

Also, this is said to be a complex technological event and this is considered a big moment for the Ethereum ecosystem. But will it make the blockchain secure and whether investors should be cautious?

"With the new mechanism in place and shifting the entire algorithm might have its own consequences. Right now it's too early to predict if it will be negative or positive," said Sathvik Vishwanath, co-founder and chief executive officer of Unocoin, a crypto exchange.

The effect of this news has been speculated on Ethereum price as the prices have fallen nearly 6% in the last week. On Thursday evening, Ethereum was trading down 1.3% at $1,582. Crypto exchanges also caution investors.

They say from the technical point of view, this shift might take longer than estimated and can take any turn out of predictions.

Considering the situation, many exchanges, including Unocoin, have disabled Ethereum and Ethereum-based coins and token deposits and withdrawals.

"As an advice to the investors, Ethereum and Ethereum-based coins and tokens might be highly volatile after this merger and any uncalculated risk might prove to be fatal," Vishwanath said.

As far as investors are concerned, it is said that there is no change in their holdings. Mohammed Roshan, CEO & co-founder of GoSats, feels the Merge is an over-hyped event that has very little substance. According to him, proof-of-stake will push Ethereum towards centralisation and it makes the blockchain less secure.

"The biggest benefactors would be day traders since this is a speculative industry," Roshan said.

Dear Roger, my friend and rival, I wish this day would never have come. It's a sad day for me personally and for sports around the world. It's been a pleasure but also an honour and privilege to share all these years with you, living so many amazing moments on and off the court. We will have many more moments to share together in the future, there are still lots of things to do together, we know that. -Rafael Nadal

DAVE JAMES @Paris

FROM racquet-smashing enfant terrible with a bad attitude and ill-advised ponytail to universally respected role model and modern icon, Roger Federer has attained almost saintly status.

More than 19 years after winning his first Grand Slam title at Wimbledon in 2003, which set him on the road to being acclaimed the greatest player of all time, Federer on Thursday announced his retirement.

At the age of 41 and trying to recover from a third knee surgery in 18 months, the great Swiss bowed to the inevitable march of time. He leaves the sport with 20 Grand Slams, including a record eight Wimbledons, 103 titles and more than $130 million in prize money alone, all driven by a rare grace, laser precision and a signature one-handed backhand.

Self-confidence was never an issue — who else could have walked onto Wimbledon Centre Court sporting a bespoke cream blazer with an embroidered crest?

The artistry associated with the Swiss brought him a global legion of fans bedecked in 'RF' hats and almost mystic appreciation.

Federer also held the world number one spot for 310 weeks, including 237 consecutive weeks between February 2004 and August 2008. His net worth was estimated in 2019 at $450 million and such is the cash-register recognition of the Federer brand that in 2018, he penned a 10-year, $300 million deal with clothing manufacturer Uniqlo.

He was 36 at the time.

In his prime, Federer left opponents bamboozled.

"I threw the kitchen sink at him but he went to the bathroom and got his tub," sighed an exhausted Andy Roddick after losing the 2004 Wimbledon final. Off court, however, he is Federer the family man, the father of two sets of twins, Myla Rose and Charlene Riva and Leo and Lenny with wife Mirka, a former player he met at the 2000 Olympics in Sydney.

His path to super-stardom wasn't always so settled.

As a talented young player, Federer's hair-trigger temper threatened to stunt his progress.

"I had a tough time getting my act together out on court, trying to behave properly. For me that was a big deal," he admitted.

At just 19, Federer famously defeated personal hero Pete Sampras at the 2001 Wimbledon tournament."A lot of friends had told me, 'I think you can beat him this year'," Federer said. "I knew I had a chance. But it was not 100 per cent. I mean, he's the man on grass."

Twelver months later, however, Federer exited Wimbledon in the first round.

It took a personal tragedy for him to press the reset.

Just when he turned 21, his coach and close friend from his formative years Peter Carter was killed in a car crash in South Africa.From that point on, the multi-lingual Federer committed himself to winning in style, no longer consumed by his inner demons.

Born on August 8, 1981 in Basel, to Swiss father Robert and South African mother Lynette, Federer started playing tennis at eight.

Had he not competed in the same era as Rafael Nadal and Novak Djokovic, his trophy collection could have been more impressive.

Federer's stunning longevity saw him play 119 matches at Wimbledon (105 wins/14 losses), 117 in Melbourne (102/15), 103 at the US Open (89/14) and 90 at Roland Garros (73/17).

Despite those impressive numbers, Federer admitted he still battled serious nerves before a big tennis occasion.

"Sometimes it slows down your legs, your pulse starts racing... that can stress you out a tad," he said.

On the eve of his shattering defeat to Djokovic in the 2019 Wimbledon final, Federer said he had not set any date for retiring. "It's just discussions I always have with my wife about the family, about my kids, is everybody happy on tour, are we happy to pack up and go on tour for five, six, seven weeks. Are we willing to do that?"

"For the time being, it seems like absolutely no problem, which is wonderful." However, with a year lost to injury and the Covid-19 pandemic as well as a stalled comeback in 2021, Federer's "wonderful time" has finally ended. — AFP

I have played more than 1500 matches over 24 years. Tennis has treated me more generously than I ever would have dreamt, and now I must recognize when it is time to end my competitive career.

I will play more tennis in the future, of course, but just not in Grand Slams or on the tour. This is a bittersweet decision, because I will miss everything the tour has given me. But at the same time, there is so much to celebrate.

The last 24 years on tour have been an incredible adventure. While it sometimes feels like it went by in 24 hours, it has also been so deep and magical that it seems as if I've already lived a full lifetime.

A CAREER FULL OF HIGH PRAISES...

"I threw the kitchen sink at him but he went to the bathroom and got his tub." - Andy Roddick on losing the 2004 Wimbledon final to Federer.

"In the modern game, you're either a clay court specialist, a grass court specialist or a hard court specialist ... or you're Roger Federer."
- Former US great Jimmy Connors

"I feel that this rivalry goes not only in the tennis world. People from outside of our world talk about it and that's good for our sport."
- Rafael Nadal at the 2017 Australian Open

"Roger can produce tennis shots that should be declared illegal."
- Former US great Tracy Austin

"I would suggest that his next opponents don't look to me for advice."
- Andre Agassi after being beaten by Federer at the 2005 Australian Open.

"Federer is the most beautiful man to watch play tennis."- John McEnroe

"The best way to beat him would be to hit him over the head with a racquet." - Rod Laver

"I can cry like Roger, it's just a shame I can't play like him." - Andy Murray, after losing to Federer in the 2010 Australian Open final.

"Roger has been one of my idols and a source of inspiration! Thank you for everything you have done for our sport! I still want to play with you! Wish you all the luck "
- Carlos Alcaraz

"You have to wonder if he's from the same planet."
- Novak Djokovic

Haaland winner reminds Pep of Cruyff

AFP @ Manchester

ERLING Haaland's stunning acrobatic finish to beat his old club Borussia Dortmund 2-1 sparked comparisons from Manchester City manager Pep Guardiola with his mentor Johan Cruyff.

The Norwegian had been kept remarkably quiet, but only needed the slightest glimpse of goal to extend his scoring streak to six games as his telescopic left leg prodded home the winner six minutes from time.

Haaland has now scored 13 goals in nine games for City since they met his bargain 60 million euro ($60m, £52m) buyout clause from the German giants. "Everyone knows how important a person Johan Cruyff was in my life. As a person, educator, mentor, everything," said Guardiola. "He scored in Camp Nou an incredible goal against Atletico Madrid (in 1973) that was quite similar. The moment he (Haaland) scored, I thought of Cruyff."

Haaland's incredible flexibility despite his giant frame also drew comparisons from Guardiola to another former Barcelona striker Zlatan Ibrahimovic.

Ibrahimovic endured one unhappy season under Guardiola at the Camp Nou, but has used an upbringing in martial arts to devastating effect during his long and storied career.

"I remember my dear friend Ibrahimovic had this ability to put his leg on the roof," added Guardiola.

Wednesday's results | Group A: Rangers 0-3 Napoli. Group E: AC Milan 3-1 Dinamo Zagreb; Chelsea 1-1 Red Bull Salzburg. Group F: Shakhtar 1-1 Celtic; Real Madrid (ESP) 2-0 RB Leipzig. Group G: FC Copenhagen 0-0 Sevilla; Man City 2-1 Dortmund. Group H: Maccabi Haifa 1-3 PSG; Juventus 1-2 Benfica.

Chennai Open hopes for positive feedback

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

ON Tuesday, the Women's Tennis Association (WTA), via a statement, announced that China is set to host events next year. The statement added that the year-ending Finals would be held in Shenzhen in 2023. The organisation had suspended events in the country following Peng Shuai's disappearance from the public eye after her sexual assault allegations against a retired government official. The pandemic also contributed to a lot of events being postponed or cancelled.

China getting back on the WTA calendar — they last hosted a meet in January 2020 — will mean a couple of things. From an Indian point of view, retaining the right to host the Chennai Open could be problematic. As it stands, Chennai only has a one-year contract to host the tournament.

This is where the feedback given by the WTA Tour Supervisor for this week — Kerrilyn Cramer — is going to be crucial. According to the Australian, 'there will be favourable feedback'. "As part of my job (she's one of the dozen or so WTA Supervisors on the tour), I do report. It would be favourable," she says.

Poland's Magda Linette in action against Oksana Selekhmeteva of Russia in the second round of Chennai Open on Thursday. Linette won 6-2, 6-0 | R SATISH BABU

"It certainly isn't my decision whether the tournament comes back. What I can say from my side as the WTA Supervisor this week... we have been very happy with what has been put on here. The tournament has, to me, met all our requirements. We would happily say that the tournament would be more than welcome if there was a license available to come back here next year."

That has been a familiar song this week. Why has that been the case? Cramer, a former chair umpire, explains. "This is the third tournament I have worked in India," she says. "I find that whenever you come to events in India, the hospitality, enthusiasm... people are so proud of their city, they want everyone to have a wonderful experience. They go above and beyond. The hospitality stands out. One of my other roles is to ensure everything is running smoothly for the players. Is there anything we need to fix for them? The other day I got a 'no, no, this is fantastic' (from the players). So happy that the WTA is back in India. It's a country where the WTA should have a tournament. Hopefully this (event) will be able to continue."

Tamil Nadu Tennis Association (TNTA) president, Vijay Amritraj, had said a few weeks ago that he was looking at options to keep a women's event in the city. The options included an idea of potentially hosting a 500 event.

Cramer said the main stadium 'is big enough to host a 500'. "This is the perfect venue for a 250. Centre court is probably large enough for a 500. But, yes, you would probably need a second stadium (one of the plans could be to erect temporary stands on one of the outside courts to fulfill that criteria). Once again, from the WTA's point of view, there needs to be a license."

There are already three requests to hold this event in 2023, something Laura Ceccarelli, chief operations officer (COO) of APG (license-holders of the event), revealed on the day of the draw.

The tournament has seemingly done all that it can to be part of the calendar going forward. Whether it will stay or not depends on other factors.

Results (Round 2): Magda Linette bt Oksana Selekhmeteva 6-2, 6-0; Katie Swan bt Anastasia Gasanova 7-6 (5), 6-2. Nadia Podoroska bt Tatjana Maria 3-6, 6-2, 7-6 (6).
